CUMMINGS SENDS BLUE EAGLE FIGHT BACK TO JOHNSON

Says Withdrawal or Restoration of Emblem at Harriman, Tenn., Is Up to NRA.

NOT ENOUGH DATA FOR PROSECUTION

But This Opinion, Justice Department Head Goes On, Does Not Bear on Administrative Actions.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 3.—Attorney-General Cummings has written to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA Administrator, saying that the withdrawal or restoration of the Blue Eagle of the Harriman (Tenn.) Hosiery Mills was entirely up to the NRA.

Johnson deprived the mills of the Blue Eagle several days ago for alleged code violations. This order has been subject of controversy ever since. Last week the 600 employees out of work. Then Johnson asked the Department of Justice about possible prosecution of the company. To this Cummings replied that there could be no prosecution on the available evidence.

Then Johnson wrote to Cummings: "This is to ask whether your opinion in this requires me to restore the Blue Eagle. I will, of course, consider myself bound by your answer to this question."

Cummings' reply, dated June 30, follows: "This acknowledges your letter of June 28.

The attitude of the Department of Justice in connection with the Harriman Hosiery Co. was communicated to the National Labor Board in letters of June 18 and June 23, 1934. We have given careful consideration to the matter and can find no reason for changing our view, which is to the effect that the available evidence is not sufficient to warrant a criminal prosecution.

"I do not see that this conclusion has any necessary relationship to any administrative action you may take. It would appear that the regulations with respect to the issuance and withdrawal of Blue Eagle are promulgated by the National Recovery Administration as administrative members, no provisions, so far as I am aware, providing for the National Industrial Recovery Act with respect to the Blue Eagle. It is entirely conceivable that proper ground might exist for the withdrawal of the Blue Eagle even though no ground existed or no facts are available for presentation to a court in sufficiently definite form to justify a criminal prosecution.

"In determining whether the Blue Eagle should be withdrawn or restored, you will naturally be governed by the facts within your knowledge which bear upon the proper exercise of your administrative discretion. Therefore, to answer categorically your question, the conclusion reached by the Department of Justice with regard to the suggested criminal prosecution does not require you to restore the Blue Eagle."

Statement by the NRA.
The NRA statement, making public the Cummings letter further said: "The Harriman company persists in its determination to remain closed, throwing more than 600 employees out of work, rather than agree to two of 14 points, acceptance of which would result in immediate restoration of its Blue Eagle.

"Although it insists that none of the employees engaged to replace strikers was recruited from a distance of 25 miles or more from Harriman, Tenn., the company declines to permit an NRA auditor to check the records to establish this fact.

PRESIDENT'S CRUISER RUNS INTO HEAVY SEAS

Makes Good Time, Nevertheless on First Leg of Vacation Voyage.

By the Associated Press.
ABOARD U. S. S. GILMER, ACCOMPANYING PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, July 3.—The cruiser Houston, bearing President Roosevelt and his party toward Haiti and Puerto Rico, traveled through rough seas last night and early today at a speed of 15 to 20 knots. The Houston dipped and pitched, and the accompanying destroyers bobbed about like corks.

Seasickness casualties were high on board the destroyer Gilmer, carrying newspaper men, and the destroyer Williamson, carrying Secret Service men, but those aboard declined an offer by the President to slacken the pace.

Roosevelt enjoyed his second day on the Atlantic today, relaxing and taking things easy with his sons, Franklin Jr. and John. He remained in touch with the White House by wireless. He joked the inland newspaper men about some of the non-nautical terms in their stories.

The Houston was off the Florida coast and proceeding far out at sea. The schedule called for the first stop Thursday at Haiti and the first landing Friday at Puerto Rico.

The 13,000-mile voyage will take the President into the Pacific, to Hawaii and the American West Coast. The New Orleans has been ordered to replace the San Francisco as Pacific convoy, the San Francisco having damaged a propeller.

COLLECTOR KOELN STARTS CAMPAIGN FOR BACK TAXES

Letters Are Mailed to Real Estate Owners With Delinquent Bills of More Than $1000 Each.

POINTS OUT HE CAN HAVE PROPERTY SOLD

Agrees With Mayor, However, That Preferable Plan Is to Try to Obtain Judgments in Court.

Collector Koeln's campaign to collect $1,862,046 in delinquent real estate and personal property taxes and help make up the anticipated deficit of $2,465,000 in the city sinking fund was started yesterday when the Collector's office mailed out letters requesting payment to more than 500 real estate owners with delinquent tax bills amounting to more than $1000 each.

Within the next week, letters also will be mailed to the other delinquents who owe less than $1000 each. By Aug. 1, there will be mailed out letters to the more than 5000 individuals who owe a total of about $2,000,000 in personal property taxes.

The Collector's records show a total of $9,862,046 now outstanding in delinquent real estate taxes, which, added to the $2,000,000 in personal property taxes, makes the total amount of taxes delinquent $11,862,046.

Special Tax Session.
Koeln, who is a candidate for reelection, announced that he would undertake the back tax drive a few weeks ago, shortly before the Board of Aldermen defeated four tax measures sponsored by Mayor Dickman to help meet the sinking fund deficit.

The Mayor, as has been told, plans to call the Board into special session to enact tax legislation this summer. Meanwhile, Koeln hopes to collect as much of the back taxes as possible to help meet not only the sinking fund deficit but also an anticipated deficit of about $2,000,000 in municipal revenue for operation of the various city departments.

In the letters to taxpayers Koeln points out that under the law he is compelled to offer for sale all real estate on which the taxes have not been paid by next November.

The Collector conferred yesterday with Mayor Dickman on this point, and the Mayor agreed with Koeln that it would be preferable not to sell the property but to file suit against the property owners and obtain judgment for the taxes.

Legal Rolling Sought.
However, the Mayor said he would ask City Counselor Hay to ascertain whether, under the law, the Collector had to sell the property or whether he had the option of selling it or filing suit against the owners.

The Collector's office reported yesterday that during June a total of $433,576 was collected in delinquent taxes, making the total collected since March 5, $2,275,564. Last year, June collections were much greater, since there was a statute in effect at the time which provided for the waiving of all penalties on back taxes paid prior to June 30. This year, only the penalties imposed prior to Dec. 31, 1933, are waived.

The O'Fallon Park Protective Association has adopted a resolution urging the Board of Aldermen to enact legislation to raise revenue for the city sinking fund, so that the $18,000,000 in bonds, voted May 15, may be sold and improvement work started to provide jobs for unemployed St. Louisians.

RUSSIAN POLITICAL WRITER SAYS FASCISM GETS WEAKER

Thinks Events in Germany Show It Can Live Only Under Civil War Conditions.

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., July 3.—Karl Radex, leading political commentator of Communist Russia, seized upon recent events in Germany today to attack Fascism.

"It has again been demonstrated that Fascist power can be maintained only under civil war conditions," said Radex, writing in the newspaper "Pravda."

He said events of June 30 in Germany showed that Fascism has used methods more cruel than did the medieval masses.

"The terror against workers in Germany has now been transferred to the small bourgeoisie," he wrote. "Fascism is weaker and its enemies are stronger as a result."

He predicted that the workers and small bourgeoisie would be forced together in a fight for proletarian dictatorship.

RAILWAY EXPRESS TRUCK LINE OUT OF JURISDICTION OF I. C. C.

Complaint of American Highway Freight Association Dismissed by Commission.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Interstate Commerce Commission refused today to interfere with operation of a motor transport subsidiary by the Railway Express Agency.

The American Highway Freight Association, an organization of truck operators, had complained that the express agency was violating the Interstate Commerce Act by operating the Railway Express Motor Transport between South Bend, Chicago, Milwaukee and intermediate points. Rates on the transport line are lower than rates on the railroad. The truckers' complaint was dismissed.

The commission said it had no jurisdiction over the motor line and that it did not appear to be a "device" within the meaning of the law for revision of the terms of the Commerce Act.

FRENCH MINISTRY PROPOSES BUSINESS DEBT MORATORIUM

Plan Designed to Avert Bankruptcy of Thousands of Small Merchants.

PARIS, July 3.—A moratorium on the debts of tens of thousands of small merchants was proposed today by the Government to avert bankruptcies.

Reduction of the debts would be provided in addition to suspension of interest payments.

A Treasury official said French storekeepers owed $465,000,000 on business debts bought during boom times, the value of which has greatly shrunk so that they are now unable to meet their payments.

The Government urged a law empowering a commercial tribunal to extend maturities and lower interest and to reduce the principal where the contract price exceeds by one-fourth the present appraised value of a business.

New York State Judges Make Ruling Similar to That by Judge Fair.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 3.—The State Court of Appeals today upheld the constitutionality of the congressional action abrogating "the gold clause" of obligations payable in the United States. The vote was four to one, with two judges not sitting.

"HEADS WILL ROLL" POLICY HALTED BY HITLER; CABINET CONSIDERS WHAT TO DO WITH VON PAPEN

SAITO CABINET RESIGNS IN JAPAN IN BANK SCANDAL

Emperor Calls in Prince Saionji and Will Announce His Choice of New Premier Tomorrow.

MANY SAY SAITO WILL BE RENAMED

Militarists Want Ministry That Will Support Them; Navy Leaders Seek Strong Stand at London.

By the Associated Press.
TOKYO, July 3.—The Cabinet resigned today. Premier Makoto Saito presented the resignations to Emperor Hirohito, but Saito was asked to continue as Premier pending selection of his successor.

Prince Saionji, veteran statesman, was called into conference by the Emperor and he said his decision on who should be the new Premier would be announced tomorrow.

The Saito Cabinet resigned because it considered itself compromised by a financial scandal in which Hideo Kuroda, Vice-Minister of Finance, is involved. The scandal grew out of the operation of the Imperial Bank of Potosi.

Ten leading financiers were indicted. Kuroda was accused of being a party to the manipulation of Imperial Rayon Co. shares, issued through the bank, with corrupt profits running into millions of yen.

Premier Saito was not personally involved and many predicted that he would be directed to form another Cabinet.

High officials of the army want a Cabinet which favors expansion of the service, while the navy desires a Government which is certain to make a firm stand at the 1935 naval conference.

Viscount Saito, a 76-year-old veteran of public life, was called to head the Government after the assassination of Premier Suoyoshi Inukai. He had gained a wide reputation as Governor-General of Korea.

RFC LOANS IN MISSOURI $99,029,370 UP TO JUNE 23

New York Leads All States, With Ohio Second, California Third, Chairman Reports.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—New York leads all the states in the amount borrowed by banks and other eligible firms from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with Ohio second and California a close third.

Chairman Jones of the corporation has made public figures showing authorizations to New York borrowers totaling $852,824,230, to Ohio $430,217,331, and California $422,277,566.

Total authorizations to borrowers in all states were $4,421,944,609 and disbursements $3,294,366,974. Withdrawals and cancellations of authorizations totaled $425,701,248.

Including various governmental agencies and railroads, the corporation's grand total of authorizations up to June 30 was $5,730,104,315, disbursements $4,295,596,463 and withdrawals and cancellations $478,142,909.

For Missouri authorizations from Feb. 2, 1933, to June 23, 1934, were $99,029,370; disbursements $64,462,956, and withdrawals or cancellations $21,770,263.

BRITISH PLAN SUBSIDY FOR TRAMP SHIPPING

Board of Trade President Announces $10,000,000 Grant As 'Defensive Measure.'

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 3.—The Government announced today its intention to assist British shipping with a $10,000,000 subsidy to be applied as a "defensive" measure. The subsidy, it was announced, will be confined to vessels carrying tramp cargoes under tramp conditions.

Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, announced the plan in the House of Commons. He said it was aimed to obtain abolition of foreign subsidies, together with greater employment of British shipping and sea-faring men.

He said it would be given only on condition that shipowners formulate a plan satisfactory to the Government and including measures designed to prevent the subsidy from being dissipated by domestic competition of British ships carrying tramp cargoes and to insure that it is directed effectively to obtaining greater use of British tramp shipping.

Runciman said the Government's policy was aimed at supplying shipping tonnage equal to world demand "and thus raise freight rates once more to a remunerative level."

He declared the subsidy would be employed only until Britain could get other nations to reduce or eliminate their subsidies.

He suggested that British owners should replace much of their old cargo tonnage with fewer smaller and more modern ships, saying the Government was willing to help financially. Runciman further indicated that the Government immediately planned to sound out foreign nations as to the possibility of an international agreement.

U. S.-TO-POLAND FLYERS FETTERED AT WARSAW RECEPTION

Brothers, Soda Water Manufacturers, Call for Beer Instead of Proffered Wine.

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, July 3.—Poland rousing acclamation today of two of its native sons, Joseph and Benjamin Adamowicz of Brooklyn, for their trans-Atlantic flight.

The first brothers to cross the ocean by air landed here late yesterday after a hop from Torun, Poland, where they had been forced down. The Brooklyn soda water manufacturers were taken through decorated streets to a formal reception. Among those greeting them was John Cudahy, United States Ambassador. Offered old wines, the flyers asked for beer.

Benjamin Adamowicz said they would remain in Warsaw for several days and would visit Wlodek, their birthplace. Later they will make a tour of Poland. The flyers made a forced landing on the coast of France last Saturday, after a hop from Starbo, France, N. F. They were forced down twice between France and Warsaw.

KILLINGS CALLED OFF; OFFENDERS WILL GO BEFORE REGULAR COURTS

Government Having Trouble Over Vice-Chancellorship — Chancellor Leaves By Plane for Neu-deck to Confer With Hindenburg.

SLAYING OF OTHER LEADERS RUMORED

Bavarian Premier Who Stopped "Beer Putsch" in 1923 Reported Dead — Hundreds of Persons Said to Have Been Shot.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, July 3.—Chancellor Hitler issued an order today putting an end to special measures used to quell the "second revolution," and announced that henceforth the regular courts would handle offenders against the Nazi Government.

The order was made effective July 1. Hitler's order said: "Measures for suppressing the Roehm revolt ended on the night of July 1, 1934. Whoever on his own account, no matter with what intentions, in the wake of this action shall make himself guilty of an act of violence, will be handed over to the regular courts of justice for punishment."

The Von Papen Problem.
A Government spokesman intimated late in the day during a session of the Cabinet that the expected resignation of Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen might not be accomplished.

Hitherto the resignation or dismissal of Von Papen had been regarded as an assured fact. Hermann Goering, Prussian Premier, was slated to succeed him.

A spokesman for the Propaganda Ministry, asked about the expected Von Papen resignation, said: "It may, in fact, never be a fact."

"One of our leaders," he said, "has gone outside of Berlin by airplane, and that may change things. That is all I can say now."

The reference proved to be to the departure of Hitler for Neu-deck to confer with President von Hindenburg.

Almost all day the Cabinet had been in session, presumably considering, among other pressing problems, the matter of the vice-chancellor.

The Inner Council of the Nazi party also met.

Hitler Receives Von Papen.
Von Papen was received by Hitler before the Cabinet assembled. Von Papen remained for a brief time, then left in an automobile in which were seated two men in civilian clothes and one Schutz Staff (picked Storm Trooper) guard.

Guards in front of Von Papen's home, withdrawn for a time early today, were doubled later in the morning.

It was unofficially reported that von Papen and Hitler had reached a truce in their differences over the former's outspoken criticism of certain aspects of the Nazi government. President von Hindenburg directed yesterday that von Papen, a former Chancellor, and a close personal friend of the President, must not be harmed. Hindenburg placed responsibility for his safety on the Reichwehr, or standing army, now back in a powerful political position.

Von Papen has been absolved of guilt in the abortive plot against the Government, although some of his subordinates were implicated.

Report of Another Execution.
The execution of Gustav von Kahr, the Bavarian Premier who proved Hitler's nemesis in the 1923 "Beer Putsch," was reported today in Munich. It was rumored that he was among those shot to death on Saturday. Former Gen. Otto von Oseev was also reported to have been killed Saturday.

The Hitler plot in 1933 turned against him at the crucial moment.

WITNESS TELLS OF COLONEL'S JOB WITH RADIO FIRM

EVIDENCE AGAINST OTHERS OBTAINED

Committee to Make Further Inquiry Into Nature of Work Performed for Private Concerns.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Congressional investigators in executive session today obtained new information concerning Col. Joseph B. McMullen, United States Army, and his acceptance of fees from private companies.

The witness before the House Military Committee was Joseph L. Schwank, an executive of the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Co. Schwank was asked in detail about the cases in which McMullen, attached to the Army Judge Advocate-General's office, had represented and given advice to Atwater Kent.

McMullen has told the committee he received "several thousand dollars" from Kent for legal services. His testimony was checked today against correspondence, canceled checks and Schwank's version of the transactions.

Representative Kvale (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, only committee member in town, said the evidence obtained would be kept secret until McMullen testifies again.

McMullen's explanation. McMullen has told the committee he advised Kent in a patent case and did some work for the Cuban American Manganese Co. concerning mining properties in California.

Kvale said the names of the other officers who received pay for outside work would not be divulged until the committee had time to make further investigation.

He said it might be that the officers did not work on cases in which the Government was interested and that they did the outside work after office hours.

Besides checking these points, committee investigators will look over bank accounts of the officers in question to see how much they received and determine whether they represented more than one private company.

Statement on Foulis. As the new evidence was being prepared for the committee's record, Kvale referred to a statement to the recent committee report recommending that Major-General Benjamin D. Foulis be removed as Army Air Corps chief.

Emphasizing that he was expressing only his personal views and not those of the committee, Kvale said, although Foulis "did deliberately violate the law," he did so "sincerely believing he was acting for the best good of the Air Corps."

Kvale said that by accusing Foulis of "dishonesty" the committee did not mean "financial dishonesty."

"We have failed to uncover one single instance of any financial dishonesty on the part of any officer of the Air Corps or in any of the transactions jointly involving the Corps and the aviation industry in procurement affairs," Kvale's statement said.

HARVARD GETS GLUCK BUST Aid of Hitler Presents Likeness of Composer.

BOSTON, July 3.—Dr. Ernest F. S. Hanfstaengl, aid of Chancellor Hitler of Germany, presented a bust of Wilhelm Rittler von Gluck to the Harvard Music Department on the 220th anniversary of the birth of the German composer yesterday.

Hanfstaengl informally gave the bust to Prof. Edward B. Hill, head of the department.

The bust was one of three carefully guarded by Hanfstaengl on his trip here from Berlin to attend the twenty-fifth reunion of the Harvard class. The other two busts, one of the Philosopher Schopenhauer, and the other of President Paul von Hindenburg, still are in Hanfstaengl's possession.

1000 ARMED PEASANTS IN CHILEAN REVOLT

Troops Rushed to Mulchen, Center of Disturbance; 50 Rioters Reported Killed.

By the Associated Press.

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 3.—A thousand armed peasants, driven from their unproductive farms by cold and hunger, rose up in arms today and terrorized a section in Southern Chile.

A special train bearing 200 Carabineros was rushed to Mulchen, center of the revolt, to reinforce the 150 men already there, who were having difficulty in coping with the situation.

The revolting farmers have launched an attack on peasants who would not join their revolutionary movement. A number of peasants have been slain and their bodies thrown into the Biobio River. About 50 rioters have been killed in encounters with the Carabineros.

Included in the revolt are a large number of Indians, often involved in land disputes, and squatters whose land has been unproductive.

Leaders of the movement charge the Government has not complied with its colonization promises, the plans for which were begun several years ago.

NAVAL CONFERENCE MUST DO SOMETHING, BALDWIN SAYS

Acting Prime Minister of Britain Declares Political Conditions Make Action Imperative.

LONDON, July 3.—Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, told the House of Commons today that international political conditions were so serious that it was imperative for the 1925 naval conference to "achieve some end."

Baldwin spoke as acting Prime Minister in the absence of Ramsay MacDonald and as acting head of the British naval delegation.

He evaded all questions from the opposition regarding Great Britain's maximum naval demands as presented recently to the American delegation.

"World conditions," he said, "in many ways are more difficult than at the time of the London conference, and therefore it is more than ever necessary to survey the entire ground before the conference."

"Deterioration of certain conditions in the world make it all the more necessary that the Government's view that the conference should meet and that the conference should achieve some end."

MACON COUNTY CANDIDATE AND COMPANION SLAIN

Man Seeking Office of Prosecuting Attorney One of Two Killed in Fight—One Held.

By the Associated Press.

MOBERLY, Mo., July 3.—John Franklin, candidate for Prosecuting Attorney of Macon County, and William Skinner, both of Macon, were killed late last night at the home of Clifford Hefflin near the edge of town, allegedly during a fight with Hefflin.

Deputy Sheriff Eugene Pennock said that Hefflin, who is being held in the county jail, admitted the shooting. The officer said Hefflin told him that he fired on the two men after they created a disturbance at his home.

Franklin, a former City Attorney of Macon, was a son of the late Ben Franklin, a widely known attorney in Central Missouri. Skinner was a nephew of Albert Skinner, Macon undertaker.

Franklin said a still was found in the Hefflin home last night following the killing. He said Hefflin is a former railroad fireman.

COURT ASKED TO VOID ORDER NAMING KIEL P. S. C. TRUSTEE

Two Bondholders Challenge Federal Judge David Jurisdiction Under Bankruptcy Law.

A plea asking Federal Judge Davis to vacate his appointment of Henry W. Kiel as permanent trustee of the St. Louis Public Service Co. under the amended bankruptcy act was filed yesterday by Abraham Shupsky and Michael J. Coyne, bondholders, through their attorneys, Victor Packman and Morris Levin.

The action is sought on the grounds that the amendment did not confer authority for such appointment on the Federal Court and that Judge Davis, therefore, was without jurisdiction. Kiel, who had been receiver for more than a year, was appointed trustee after a debtor's petition proposing reorganization of the company had been filed by its corporate officers.

The petitioners set out that the amendment provides it shall not apply to any railway owned in whole or in part by a municipality, or operated under contract with a municipality, except in the case of a corporation which receives not more than 20 per cent of its operating revenue from such operation.

In the case of the Public Service Co., the petitioners say, more than 20 per cent of the revenue comes from operation of railways under contracts with the City of St. Louis in the form of franchise ordinances, and the city is part owner of the railway system, holding 15,412 shares of preferred stock.

The stock was accepted by the city in payment of accumulated taxes, following the reorganization effected in 1927.

"I shall see to it that this camouflaged mischief is stopped in Upper Silesia, where with slogans attempts are being made to lead the flock back into ages long gone."

"We respect any religious conviction and when on Corpus Christi day the shrine of the Blessed Virgin is carried in the streets we shall permit anyone to express his religious feeling in the streets. But when this is over, religious exercises belong in the churches."

"We shall wait exactly so long," he continued, "until this trick becomes evident, just as we did last week. We will catch all who are against Adolf Hitler."

"If it suffices to punish one with arrest on the first day, I will have him shot the third day if he does not obey."

JUDGE DENIES NEW TRIAL TO MURDER GROUP MEMBERS

Fourth of Band That Killed Derelict to Be Electrocuted Thursday Night.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 3.—Judge James M. Barrett of Bronx County today refused to grant a new trial to Joseph Murphy, fourth member of the "murder syndicate" that killed a 34-year-old molder, who was a 34-year-old molder, who survived by three young children.

The "murder syndicate" killed Malloy with gas, but before that Malloy defied death in the form of poisonous alcohol, tainted sardines and several other experiments.

Counsel for Murphy said he once was an inmate of a Connecticut asylum.

18-YEAR-OLD FLYER JAILED

Landed Plane on Hudson Bank in New York City.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 3.—Alexander Loeb, 18-year-old night school aviation student, went to jail yesterday to start a 30-day sentence imposed after Magistrate Anthony F. Burke had found he had violated the sanitary code by flying low over the city.

Loeb landed his plane on the shore of the Hudson River a few blocks from his home. A policeman declined to believe his story of a "smothered" engine and gave him a summons. At the hearing an Assistant District Attorney stressed that Loeb had landed at the same spot two weeks ago on the pretext of a clogged gasoline line. When Loeb could not pay a $50 fine, he was committed to jail for 30 days.

Will Not Obey Order of Mrs. Forca to Withdraw.

By the Associated Press. VENICE, July 3.—Italian authorities stood pat today in their resolve that the American exhibit, including the portrait of Marion Davies, will remain in the biennial art exhibition. Officials said that an order of Mrs. Juliana Forca, director of the Whitney Museum of American Art, withdrawing the entire exhibit, would not be obeyed.

Mrs. Forca had previously demanded that the movie actress' portrait be taken down.

Commodore Romolo Bassoli, secretary of the administrative board of the exhibition, said the portrait would remain at the entrance of the American pavilion, and denied that this attitude was a violation of the agreement with the Whitney Museum. He said he had not been advised officially of Mrs. Forca's withdrawal order, but that it had been understood from the start that all of the paintings entered were to remain for the duration of the exhibition.

It was reported in Munich that a Catholic priest, Father Muhler, who was serving a short prison term for outspoken criticism of Hitler, had been shot in his cell. There was uncertainty as to whether this was part of a general plan of action against ostensible revolutionaries or whether it was the act of irresponsible elements.

At least two members of the Storm Troop press department were reported killed. The press department was back of a campaign against the "Steel Helmet Reactionaries" last week in defiance of Hitler's orders.

SCOTT FIELD PILOTS MAKE DAILY WEATHER DATA FLIGHTS

Information Is Broadcast to Farmers and Flyers in All Parts of Country.

Observations of weather conditions are being made each morning by Scott Field pilots who go up to an elevation of 17,000 feet in planes equipped with aerometers, barometers, pressure, temperature and humidity. The information recorded by the devices is later sent to Lambert-St. Louis Field where it is broadcast to farmers and airplane pilots in all parts of the country.

The work began Sunday morning and will be continued for an indefinite time. At present the pilots aloft at 4 o'clock. Later 12 pilots will be used in the work, which is under direction of Capt. Earl Schofield, head of the meteorological department at Scott Field, and E. P. Crawford, who is attached to the St. Louis Weather Bureau.

In addition to temperature and humidity the pilots are recording moisture, height and thickness of clouds encountered during the trips.

COMMANDER CALLS ON LEGION TO DEFEND THE CONSTITUTION

Says Veterans Should Combat "Subversive Doctrines Spread by Super-Intellectuals."

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 3.—Edward A. Hayes, national commander of the American Legion, told 200 members of the organization yesterday that it was their duty to "combat the subversive doctrines against constitutional government which are being spread by super-intellectuals in Washington and in some schools of higher education."

"The legionnaires would be hypocrites," he said, "if they did not oppose any action which they believed inimical to the principles of constitutional government."

Hayes referred to Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, as being one of the "super-intellectuals." He said Tugwell admitted before a Senate investigating committee that he thought that the crops a farmer should plant should be regulated through taxation.

"This is contrary to all principles of freedom and constitutional government as conceived by our forefathers," Hayes said.

OPPOSES RABBIT - CLUBBING

Humane Society Objects to Killing Method in Idaho.

By the Associated Press. BOISE, Idaho, July 3.—The killing of jack rabbits with clubs and poison in drought-stricken areas of Idaho resulted in a protest to the Biological Survey office here yesterday from the American Humane Society.

N. J. Walker, general manager of the association at Buffalo, N. Y., wrote that "it would seem as if some more humane method could be devised for their destruction."

Walker wrote that he had been driven into pens and club them to death.

Since his return Saturday from his decisive trip to Munich Hitler has left his Chancellery to public knowledge, only twice, and then with strong protection. Late yesterday he visited the King and Queen of Siam at the Adlon Hotel. He walked through a lobby and hall lined with members of a special bodyguard. His other visit was to suburban Dahlem to confer with Kurt Schmitt, Minister of Economics.

Each time before Hitler left, the street adjacent to the chancellery was cleared of all traffic. His audience was limited to a few select persons.

Hitler Calls Halt to Killings

when the support of the Bavarian troops was withdrawn and military forces were directed to fire on the rebels. At that time Goering was wounded. Eleven were killed. He escaped, only to be arrested shortly afterward.

The Nazi press department issued an official estimate, placing the number killed during the "second revolution" at "below 60." The official list, it was stated, will be made public as soon as a few remaining cases still to be judged are disposed of. It was reliably reported, however, that hundreds had been executed in the "house-cleaning" in the Nazi party.

One eyewitness said 60 were executed in Berlin alone.

It was reported in Munich that a Catholic priest, Father Muhler, who was serving a short prison term for outspoken criticism of Hitler, had been shot in his cell. There was uncertainty as to whether this was part of a general plan of action against ostensible revolutionaries or whether it was the act of irresponsible elements.

At least two members of the Storm Troop press department were reported killed. The press department was back of a campaign against the "Steel Helmet Reactionaries" last week in defiance of Hitler's orders.

Other Developments. A threat that Nazi bullets "would not be spared when the time is ripe" for execution of Catholic priests was voiced at Rastatt by Helmut Bruckner, Governor of Silesia. News of his speech greatly alarmed Berlin Catholic circles.

The newspaper Deutsche Zeitung charged "it must be clear to every National Socialist that Jews have their hands in this conspiracy against the leader (Hitler)."

The Jewish Telegraph Agency reported Jews had not been molested during the past few days.

The Storm Troops, until recently all-powerful, suffered a heavy blow when their press department was abolished.

The Reichswehr appeared to hold a whip hand, with Hitler dependent on it for support.

Although 200 Storm Troop sub-leaders were imprisoned, Munich was quiet. The city is Storm Troop headquarters.

Tense Feeling in Berlin. A tense feeling continued in Berlin. The public appeared bewildered and comment was guarded.

A revamped Cabinet appears inevitable and it was expected to be a "middle road" one, although definitely anti-monarchial.

A Jewish Telegraphic Agency dispatch from Warsaw said Paul Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda and with Goering one of Hitler's closest aids, would be sent there as Ambassador.

Dispatches from Doorn, Holland, said former Kaiser Wilhelm was anxious for the safety of his sons in Germany, but they apparently formed policemen around three Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm and his brother, Prince August Wilhelm, officially of complicity in the attempted revolt.

While saying that the former Crown Prince was not in Berlin, the Hohenzollern administration was insistent on denying today that he had been expelled from the country, as was reported in an Amsterdam dispatch which said he had gone by airplane to join his father at Doorn.

Telegrams of loyalty to Hitler from all parts of the country by his sub-leaders were displayed on the front pages of all morning newspapers, together with columns of editorials which praised the Chancellor as the savior of the Reich.

The Government sent assurances to the Hitler youth organization, anxious to keep within the Nazi fold.

Hitler Closely Guarded. Since his return Saturday from his decisive trip to Munich Hitler has left his Chancellery to public knowledge, only twice, and then with strong protection. FLETCHER REPLIES TO ROOSEVELT AS 'AN AVERAGE MAN'

G. O. P. Chairman Says He Is Better Off Than Last Year but Asks About Future Tax Bills.

NOT SURE HOW LONG WORK WILL LAST

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Henry P. Fletcher, the new chairman of the Republican National Committee, answered last night President Roosevelt's recent radio questions and asked several of his own. He spoke over a nation-wide radio hookup.

The general text of the Republican Chairman was that "the New Deal is Government from above" and does not come from the people. "All the long faces and doleful words to the contrary," he asserted, "this America of ours is not an economic poor farm."

Taking up President Roosevelt's personal questions to the country, Fletcher said that he imagined that the average American citizen would answer them as follows:

"I am perhaps better off than last year, but when I see the vast sums expended and authorized to be expended by the Government I ask myself will I be better off when the tax bill comes in and how about my children and my children's children."

"Let Me Hear for Moment."

"My debts insofar as they have been assumed by the Government, that is, by the whole people, are less burdensome to me and insofar as the Government has postponed them they are also less heavy for the moment."

"My bank account, if any, is more secure, but I am not sure how much my money is going to be worth when I come to need it."

"My working conditions are as good as ever, if not indeed, better, but I am not sure how long my work will last when the Government stops making work."

"My faith in my own individual future is not more firmly guaranteed because it no longer depends upon my own free efforts, but upon the regulatory schemes of the Government bureaucracy."

"Let the Tailor Answer."

"The President also asked," Fletcher continued, "if we have lost any of our rights or liberty or constitutional freedom of action and choice?"

"I will let the tailor make answer that," he said, "for the workers and owners of that mill in Tennessee, which the Attorney-General of the United States finds has not violated any law, but which is compelled to shut down because General Johnson has taken away from it a grievance image, not mentioned or recognized by any law of the United States, but which by edict must be displayed to secure state and national government contracts."

The Republican Chairman apparently forgot one important scheduled radio speech when he attempted to answer the President's remarks about the purported violations of the Bill of Rights.

"Now as to a bill of rights," Fletcher said, "did or did not the newspapers of the country have the right for the insertion of the first article of the bill of rights in their code? Ask Senator Borah and others who have tried to discuss the new deal whether there has been freedom of speech over the radio and in the news reels."

Senator Borah is scheduled to make one of his most bitter speeches against NRA over a nationwide radio hookup Wednesday night.

Fletcher's own questions related to the Administration's foreign policy, strikes and relief.

"Admit It Is Dramatic."

"I have said that the new deal is not Democratic," he said, "but I am willing to admit that it is dramatic. They have put on a number of good shows. With a great flourish of publicity foreign Ambassadors were called in and the war debts were going to be settled realistically but easily. Are they any nearer payment or settlement than they were in March, 1933?"

"Later, first rank statesmen were called to Washington from all parts of the earth to sit at his feet and hear the President's views and plans for world economic recovery and co-operation. The newspapers buzzed with excitement. What was the result? A lecture to the world and a miserable fiasco at the London economic conference. But it was a good show while it lasted.

"Then there was the hullabaloo about Litvinoff's visit and the recognition of the Soviet Government. Has our trade with Russia increased as a result of recognition? If so, we have not heard of it and you may be sure we would have heard of it from the hundred-odd publicity bureaus of the New Deal financed by your money and mine. It was just another one of the circles by which the people must be distracted."

"Now just a word about the NRA and the AAA. Has or has not Section 7A of the NRA fomented strikes? Have or have not the NRA and the AAA kept their promise to the ears of our workmen and farmers, but broken that promise to the hope?"

Mosque and White House. Fletcher, a world traveler, made use of the President's homely illustration of the enlargement of the executive offices of the White House. "There is one assurance in the President's radio address," he said, "which all lovers of American art have received with joy, and that is that while the President is away the addition to the executive offices will present architectural lines. But it is not the outside of a public building which controls the thoughts and theories of those who work behind beautiful facades. A famous mosque in Constantinople was once a Christian church."

Elaborating his argument that the New Deal is government from above, Fletcher insisted that the administration had taken charge of so many activities that the Republicans found themselves seriously handicapped.

"The Government," he said, "has already practically taken control of our banking system and monopolizes the money market. In this the New Deal is perfectly logical because as it seeks to control all production, it can do so much more easily if it controls the credit on which production is based. Don't imagine for one moment that the New Dealers are dumb and that they do not know what steps and measures they must take to put their theories into practice."

Starts With Handicap. "When we consider the wide range of power and authority over industry and agriculture, and practically every form of individual and corporate activity which they have—when we realize the immense amount of money they have expended, and still have to expend, we can appreciate what they are doing to settle the new deal to the American people or impose it upon them. The opposition starts in this very election with the handicap. That, however, is all the more reason why every citizen who sincerely believes that the new deal is a menace to the liberty and prosperity of our country, should give himself to this."

"Any government which gets into its hands the accumulated savings of its people can by their expenditure create the illusion of prosperity, and provide temporary jobs for the unemployed. But this is entirely artificial. It does not and cannot form a solid foundation on which to rebuild our economic structure."

INQUIRY OPENS ON COST OF TAXICAB INSURANCE

Prohibitory Rates Charged on Liability Policies, Witnesses Tell Aldermen.

The Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen today began an investigation of the taxicab ordinance and more specifically the provision requiring operators of taxicabs to carry liability insurance. Taxicab operators have protested they cannot obtain this insurance except at prohibitory rates.

William J. Brown, president of the American Taxicabs, Inc., operator of the Yellow Cabs, and representatives of independent cab operators told the committee they could hardly afford to operate and pay the $25-a-month premium on each cab as required by most insurance companies. In the last six years, Brown said, his company has paid out $103,687 in claims. If the taxicab ordinance had been operative all that time, he said, the insurance premium payments would have totaled $280,000. He also exhibited letters from some large insurance companies declining to write insurance on taxicabs.

Associate City Counselor Senti said he thought some insurance should be required for protection of the public. Harry J. Cantwell, attorney for the United Service Car Co., Inc., told the committee that, so long as service cars were required to carry insurance, taxicab operators should be required to do likewise.

A representative of some independent cab drivers suggested the cab operators set up a sinking fund to purchase group insurance under city supervision.

Alderman Peterson, chairman, said other meetings would be held before the committee reached any conclusions. Director of Streets and Sewers McDevitt has agreed not to enforce the ordinance until the committee completes its inquiry.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBER KILLED WHEN ANCHOR ROPE BREAKS

Plunges 100 Feet From Cliff, and Then Is Carried 500 More by Snow.

VANCOUVER, July 3.—Three mountain climbers returned to Vancouver today and told how a comrade fell to his death while attempting to scale Mount Waddington in British Columbia.

Alec H. Dalgleish, 27 years old, buried by his companions in the snow. For almost a week the three have been descending mountains, cutting their way through bush and traveling by gasboat to relate to the family of the young climber the story of how he lost his life.

The three are: Dr. Neal M. Carter, of Prince Rupert, B. C.; Eric Brooks, both members of the Alpine Club of Canada, of which Dalgleish, a Vancouver resident, was also a member; and Alan Lambert, New Westminster, B. C., a member of the British Columbia Mountaineering Club.

Dalgleish fell on June 24 while the four were retracing their steps to find another route at 10,500 feet. Waddington is 13,260 feet high. Dalgleish had relieved Lambert of the lead, and after proceeding a short distance said there was no possibility of ascent by the route taken. He started down, taking the last position on the descent. Brooks was next to him, the rope anchored between them over a projection of rock. Suddenly Brooks saw his companion slip out of sight. The rope broke and Dalgleish fell 100 feet to the snow below and was carried for another 500 or 600 feet. He was killed instantly. The survivors were three and a half hours in descending to the body.

U. S. PLAN FOR ARMS PUBLICITY APPROVED

Geneva Committee Submits Proposal to Governments for Inclusion in Treaty.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, July 3.—President Roosevelt's plan to prevent secret collection of armaments by publicity of munition sources was approved by a committee of the disarmament conference yesterday.

Powers represented on the committee investigating manufacture and traffic in arms adopted a plan based on American suggestions for keeping records on all armaments, whether homemade or imported. A draft of the proposal will be sent to all governments with a view to incorporation in the general disarmament treaty.

The plan provides for the strict inspection and supervision. Adhering nations would undertake to prohibit the manufacture of forbidden arms and traffic in them in excess of limits laid down by a projected general treaty. Licenses would be required for all manufactures and exports of arms. The plan specifically provides in the case of Germany that armaments must be carried out by stages.

Hugh Wilson, United States Ambassador to Switzerland, announced acceptance of the American plan as drafted, and said it would be "an important contribution to that security which looms so large in the eyes of so many nations."

Seven nations represented in the committee supported the plan specifically and praised the United States for its constructive proposal. A representative of Venezuela said the plan would "go down in history as a great success."

ACTION AGAINST LIQUOR IMPORTERS UNDER NRA CODE

Federal Control Head to Proceed Against Those Who Failed to File Price Lists.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Director J. H. Choate Jr., of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration, announced yesterday proceedings would be brought against liquor importers who failed to file posted prices under their code by July 1. Choate said the FACA had been informed that a large number of importers had not filed prices and terms as required and that "the Federal Alcohol Control Administration proposes promptly to institute proceedings for the suspension or revocation of the importer's basic permit in the case of any importer certified as having failed to post such prices and terms."

KENNEDY CHOSEN HEAD OF EXCHANGE BOARD

Selection at First Opposed by Pecora, Allegedly Because of Pool Operations.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 3.—The new Securities and Exchange Commission chose Joseph P. Kennedy, Democratic financier as its chairman for the ensuing year yesterday.

This choice ended an apparent dispute between Kennedy and Ferdinand Pecora, who had previously indicated he would not serve unless elected chairman.

Kennedy's selection came after a two-hour conference among the Democratic members of the Commission, Kennedy, Pecora and James M. Landis, while the Republican members, George C. Matthews and Robert E. Healy, waited in an outer office.

All was serene when the new commission admitted photographers and reporters.

Kennedy was spokesman, but Pecora answered questions also, and smilingly shrugged off questions as to the subject of the two-hour meeting.

Kennedy agreed the chairman-ship was discussed, but said there had been no dispute. He did not explain why the Republican members did not participate in the meeting.

Edna B. Vincell, Trade Commission notary, administered the oath of office.

It was decided to have Kennedy's chairmanship run to June 30, 1935, when a new chairman will be selected. No provision was made for rotating the office.

The Washington Post says Pecora originally opposed the selection of Kennedy as chairman, on the ground that he was a participant in pool operations uncovered by the Senate Banking Committee.

Pecora as counsel, put into the record Kennedy's share in a $280,000 profit from a Libby-Owens Soap Corporation syndicate, the paper added.

The Post says Kennedy had a two-hour conversation with Pecora during which he "is said to have satisfied the Senate's Wall Street prosecutor of his fitness for the job."

ARTHUR THACHER, 77, MINING ENGINEER DIES

Heart Attack Fatal to Man Who Spent Most of Career in Zinc Industry.

By the Associated Press. ARTHUR THACHER, widely known mining engineer, who had spent most of his professional career in the zinc industry until amputation of his left leg forced his retirement four years ago, died of a heart attack yesterday at his home, 6185 Lindell boulevard. He was 77 years old and had been confined to his bed since the amputation.

Mr. Thacher, son of a merchant, was born in Newtonville, Mass., and because of an early aptitude for mathematics was persuaded by his teachers to take courses in engineering at the Columbia University School of Mines in New York.

After his graduation in 1877, a friend of his father, a western banker, took him to San Francisco, then just recovering from the great silver expansion of the Comstock Lode in Nevada, and got a job for him as assistant engineer of a mine in Lower California. In about a year he became restless and went to Arizona, arriving in Tombstone at the height of that silver camp's turbulent boom days. There he led the rough life of a prospector and assayer and had the experience of seeing several friends killed in Indian raids.

Taught Metallurgy. In a few years he returned to New York, engaging in consulting work, and then went to a mining camp in Idaho. He came to St. Louis as assistant to Prof. William B. Potter of Washington University. Later he became adjunct professor of mining and metallurgy at the university, serving until the department was abolished in 1891. In 1890 he married Miss Carrie Greene, who died in 1926.

Mr. Thacher spent the rest of his life principally in Missouri in association with various lead and zinc stands swept through the business district yesterday and threatened the entire town before it was brought under control by firemen and equipment from neighboring cities. The loss was estimated at $50,000.

The population of the town has grown from 300 to 1200 since construction was started on the Booneville dam.

Made Speech From Bed. One of the founders of the American Zinc Institute, he made the opening address at the seventeenth annual convention of the organization here last April 30, speaking from his bed through a special telephone connected with loud speakers at the meeting. He had been a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers for more than 60 years and was a member also of the Mining and Metallurgical Society of America and the St. Louis Engineers' Club.

He is survived by a son, Arthur W. Thacher of New Orleans; a daughter, Mrs. Theodora Glasgow of St. Louis; a brother, Thomas W.

1,551 MOTOR TRUCKS TO BE BOUGHT FOR NATIONAL GUARD

128th Missouri Field Artillery to Get 80 Machines From U. S.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 3.—Motorization of the National Guard units of the country will be accomplished during the summer through purchase of 1551 motor trucks by the War Department from funds allotted under the PWA $10,000,000 motorization program.

Advertisements for bids for the National Guard trucks will be included among the first to be issued from the office of Assistant Secretary of War Woodring during the next month. Contracts already awarded the Chevrolet Company for 1600 trucks for the National Guard are for "motor pools" and their distribution has not yet been announced.

Field artillery units that are scheduled to receive 60 trucks each include the 128th of Missouri.

Lands Burning Plane Safely. MOBILE, Ala., July 3.—Lieut. R. M. Lundgren of Pittsburgh, Pa., today landed in his fire-enveloped plane in a swamp 10 miles north of Mount Vernon, and escaped with only minor injuries. Lundgren, a former army pilot, was ferrying a new ship to San Antonio from Pittsburgh for the Transcontinental Western Airways when it took fire above the swamp.

Thacher of Boston, and two sisters, Mrs. Louis F. Post of Washington and Miss Amy Thacher of Boston. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. at the residence. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

COUNTERFEITING ROUNDED UP; 20

Plant Where $10 Bill Imitated Found in County Barn.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 3.—Fifty and five women are in custody as a result of an investigation of counterfeit operations. The investigation was said to have disposed of $75,000.

The reputed leader, Joseph Santello, said to be his partner in the operation, was arrested in a similar bonyon in Kenosha, Wis., and Chicago. Two men, Joseph and Sam Greco, are on bail of $5000 each.

Assistant United States Attorney Sullivan said the operation had been going on for weeks. The gang passed $10 bills in saloons, stations and rural stores early in Illinois and Indiana.

In a sharp back of the Cook County Federal covered several engraving supply of ink and paper, counterfeit bills of several thousand dollars in face value, said evidence tended to show that the gang had been in the area for some time.

The agents said the gang had confessed.

CUBAN PRESIDENT APPEARS IN CABINET REORGANIZATION

Nationalist Party Has Jorjy as Result of Withdrawal.

By the Associated Press. HAVANA, July 3.—President Batista has appointed three new members to his Cabinet, including a large party of the Government.

The new appointees are Dr. Viller, unaffiliated, professor, Secretary of the Interior, and a member of the Nationalist Party, Secretary of the Treasury.

The Cabinet vacated when four members of the Nationalist party withdrew from the government.

The Nationalists have been the mainstay of Batista's government since he was elected in 1934. The party withdrew from the government in 1933.

COUNTERFEITING GANG
ROUNDED UP; 20 HELD

Plant Where $10 Bills Were Imitated Found in Cook County Barn.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Fifteen men and five women are in custody as a result of an investigation by Federal agents of operations of a gang said to have disposed of counterfeit money with a face value of $25,000.

The reputed leader, Ben Y. Raia, was arrested and held on bonds of $25,000 yesterday. Joseph Lisantello, said to be his lieutenant, was held in similar bond. Other suspects have been arrested in Milwaukee, Kenosha, Wis.; Gary, Ind., and Chicago. Two men, Joseph Kasha and Sam Greco, are held here on bail of $5000 each.

Assistant United States District Attorney Sullivan said the investigation had been going on for two weeks. The gang passed counterfeit $10 bills in saloons, gasoline stations and rural stores, particularly in Illinois and Indiana, he said.

In a barn back of Raia's home in Cook County Federal agents discovered several engraving plates, a supply of ink and paper and counterfeit bills of several hundred thousand dollars in face value. Sullivan said evidence tended to show that Raia sold the fraudulent bills to the gang at $2 each for distribution. The agents said some of the gang had confessed.

CUBAN PRESIDENT APPOINTS 3

Nationalist Party Has Large Majority as Result of ABC Withdrawal.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, July 3.—President Mendieta has appointed three new secretaries in his Cabinet and shifted some old members, giving his Nationalist party a large majority in the Government.

The new appointees are: Medardo Viteri, unaffiliated, university professor, Secretary of Education; Mario Montero, unaffiliated, president of the Havana Audiencia Court, Secretary of Justice, and Pelayo Cuervo, Nationalist, at present Sub-Secretary of the Interior, Secretary of that department.

Gabriel Landa, Secretary of Communications, was named Secretary of the Treasury, and Dr. Miguel Suarez was switched from the Department of Labor to Communications. The portfolios of Labor and Commerce are now the only ones open.

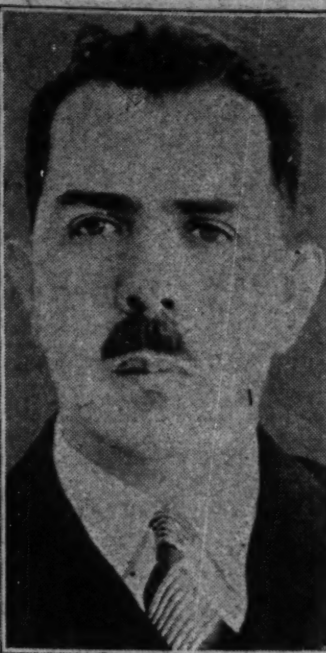

The Nationalists have six Secretaries, the Menocalistas two. Three are unaffiliated.

The Cabinet vacancies were created when four members of the ABC political society resigned after that party withdrew its support from Mendieta.

SAYS U. S. MUST QUIT PLAYING POLICEMAN IN LATIN AMERICA

Former Chilean Ambassador to Washington Addresses Institute of Public Affairs.

UNIVERSITY, Va., July 3.—Carlos G. Davila, former Chilean Ambassador to Washington, told the Institute of Public Affairs here last night that any policy of the United States toward Latin America, to be successful, must be based on an abandonment of the idea of playing policeman to the republics to the South.

Discussing defaulted South American bonds, Davila contended these securities were still better investments for Americans than those of most high-grade corporations.

Harry Elmer Barnes, historian, in an address on "Dictatorship and Democracy," called President Roosevelt the "last hope of democracy and capitalism." He said that "if the New Deal collapses we have the stark reality of Fascism, and then Communism, starting us in the face."

City, Mich.

TAWAS CITY, Mich., July 3.—A. J. Wood, 53 years old, who shot and killed three persons at a party early Sunday because their merry-making disturbed his sleep, and also killed the Sheriff when he arrived to investigate, pleaded guilty yesterday in Circuit Court to four charges of first-degree murder.

Wood was charged with the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hayes of East Tawas, Sheriff Charles C. Miller and Dr. Stanley Somers. Roy Hickey, a guest at the party, was wounded.

Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke accepted Wood's pleas for the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, but reserved opinion on the other two cases pending the hearing of further evidence Thursday.

HOUSE LEADERS PLAN TO HEAD OFF BLOCS

Will Seek Rule Requiring 218 Signatures to Petition for Vote.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—House leaders plan on the day the next Congress meets to change the petition rule which several times during the last session threatened President Roosevelt's program. They believe they can prevent forced votes on such things as the soldiers' bonus, full pay-off of bank deposits and broad inflationary proposals.

The bonus bill passed the last House even though it lacked committee sanction. It was forced to a vote because 145 of the 435 members signed a petition.

Representative Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic leader, said today he would ask the House to increase to 218 the number of signatures needed on a petition to force a bill to a vote.

"It takes a majority to pass any bill," Byrns said. "It should take a majority to bring it up."

In the closing days of the last Congress, Byrns and other leaders were hard-pressed to prevent forced votes on the McLeod bank deposit pay-off bill, which was opposed by the administration because of Treasury estimates that it would cost $1,800,000,000.

A Frazier-Lemke bill calling for $4,000,000,000 to $9,000,000,000 in new currency to refinance farm mortgages also was blocked although it, too, had the required 145 backers.

"But," said Byrns, "I had 50 fellows who signed those two petitions come to me and ask me to help them keep from having to vote on the bills. Obviously, neither bill had a House majority, and couldn't have passed even if it had been voted on. But the other leaders and I were charged with gag rule and everything else because we kept them from coming up."

An attempt was made last session to change the rule. It failed when members who had pledged themselves to support non-administration measures organized against it. They assailed the change as directed at whatever bill they favored.

"This time," Byrns said, "we will adopt the new rule before a bill has been introduced. Then nobody can say it is directed at a single proposal."

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, July 3. ROOSEVELT'S departure South at this particular moment caused a lot of subsonic concern in various high circles. Basis for the concern, briefly, was this:

The 73rd Congress heaped on the head of one man more power than ever before given to a President of the United States. Upon the exercise of that power will depend the immediate future of the country.

With dozens of major bills just passed, with several important missions about to function, some of Roosevelt's best friends felt he had chosen the wrong time for so distant a holiday.

Whether or not they are right, it remains a fact that the next month is going to be a crucial one in Washington. Here are some reasons why:

LABOR—Strikes and threats of strikes have been popping in every part of the country. The still unsettled steel strike, the Pacific Coast longshoremen's difficulties, the Milwaukee street railway walk-out, have kept a constant stream of labor disputes knocking at Roosevelt's door. The Wagner Labor Disputes Bill, passed to settle these, has barely begun to function. It will miss the guiding hand of the man in the White House.

NRA—The nest of the Blue Eagle, as Roosevelt departed south, was messier than ever before in its hectic and frequently messy life. General Johnson, his trigger-finger always nervous, is more explosive than ever. Despite Johnson's expletives, Clarence Darrow's reports on Big Business and Little Business, cannot be laughed off. Price-fixing remains a sore spot. A hundred complicated questions are crowding in on a man already discouraged and weary.

HOUSING—The big drive to take up the mid-summer slack, to help reduce Federal relief rolls through the gigantic slum-clearance, housing program is just being launched. Upon it depends construction prosperity next year.

LOANS TO INDUSTRY—The R. F. C. has just received from Congress the right to put the Government further into business by loaning money to industry. This new start on the old, handout game has just begun.

TARIFF—The President has just received unprecedented powers to negotiate trade treaties changing tariff rates without ratification by Congress. A score of nations and several hundred lobbyists have been hounding the State Department to begin.

STOCK MARKET—For the first time in history the Government will attempt to make Wall Street walk the straight and narrow. The commission faced with this task is still untied.

COMMUNICATIONS—Another commission to control telephones, telegraphs and radio also for the first time in history, has not even started spitting and coat hangers.

What accentuates Roosevelt's absence is the fact that his is the most centralized administration in years. Some of his Cabinet officers will scarcely hire an office boy without trotting over to ask the man in the White House.

So the summer may be hot, hectic and at times delirious. The component parts of the official family will step on each other's toes. Fireworks should be brilliant, fireworks should be brilliant, fireworks should be brilliant.

Virgin Islands. He was on his second voyage, 1493, and he was impressed by the great number of islands in that part of the Caribbean, as if nature, with a prodigal hand, had scattered them there for the beauty of their coral sand and bending palms.

Columbus was reminded of the Christian legend of St. Ursula, priestess of a convent, who went forth on a religious mission with her band of eleven thousand virgins. So he called them the Islands of the Virgins.

National Theater. No matter what happens this fall, it looks as if Eddie Dowling, close comedian-friend of the President, would be in the very thick of the show business.

Eddie has collaborated with Vincent Astor, New York New Dealer, to take over his St. James Theater. Meanwhile he is conspiring with Rhode Island politics to get into the United States Senate.

And last week he was here in the Capital talking with the Soviet Ambassador and with Harry Hopkins and Jesse Jones, on national matters. The Soviet Union has made the greatest advance. It has 28 theaters operating at once in Moscow.

Jesse agreed—but he wanted security. Harry Hopkins, however, really caught the vision. The idea of reviving a once great industry, reaching every crossroad, appealed to him. Just what will hatch is not known, but something is in the works.

Merry-Go-Round. SECRETARY ICKES always has a bonnet ready in case he wants to go on the warpath against chieftains. Given him by Chief Yellow Tail of the Montana Sioux Indian tribe, it hangs in his private office. Congressmen Fred A. Bristow and Chicago's Ninth District, was not much help to PWA officials trying to locate a site for Chicago's new housing project. His suggestions were vague. But of one thing he was sure—the site selected should be somewhere in the Ninth District.

Most cities have discarded old-fashioned open cars on their electric railways. But Washington dusts hers off every spring and gives young lovers a thrilling, hair-blowing, hand-holding ride to Glen Echo. (Copyright, 1934.)

ROMBERG'S OPERETTA, "EAST WIND," IS SUNG

Entertaining Work, New to St. Louis, Handsomely Done in Forest Park.

EAST WIND, an operetta by Sigmund Romberg with book by Oscar Hammerstein II, and Frank Mabel. Presented by the Municipal Opera Company in Forest Park with the following cast: Monsieur Granier... Joseph Macaulay; Jacques... Victor Camore; Mass... Ralph Hunsaker; Gabrielle... Berta Dorn; Julie... Ruth Hunsaker; Rene Beaulieu... Leonard Casey; Marie Martel... Leota Lane; Corinne Drees... Edith King; Capt. Paul Beaulieu... Allan Jones; Marie Fortier... Julia Stanley; Victor Chiquet... Truman Galie; Ted Tsing... Sheila Harling; Clockroom girl... Marie Starnier; King of Cambodia... Fred Pearson; King of Cambodia... Robert Long; Marie Fortier... Robert Long; Stage manager... Robert Long.

By H. H. NIEMEYER. SIGMUND ROMBERG, long a mainstay of Municipal Opera in St. Louis, made his first bow of the present season in Forest Park last night through the presentation of his melodious and, at times, pretentious operetta, "East Wind," a work not previously done here.

In contrast to other summer operettas, the music is to be heard on but one other occasion, that being near the end of the season, when "The New Moon" will be revived.

"East Wind," with its lilting tunes, is typical of the other works of Romberg, while the book which accompanies the music is likewise typical of most of the stories provided by Oscar Hammerstein II, which is to say that it is not always smoothly running with the comedy sequences more or less pitched for the audience.

The combination, however, is an opera admirably fitted for the great stage in Forest Park. Its scenes are laid in Paris, along the water front in Marseilles and in Indo-China, a wide field which affords Watson Barratt and his painters many opportunities—there are 11 settings in all—and the designer has taken full advantage of them.

The final scene in the operetta, along the river front in Saigon, is particularly beautiful, while another set, in a Parisian dance hall, is made doubly striking by the Chinese costumes of the Municipal Opera's ballet.

And the dancing in this show runs almost entirely to the school of the ballet. True, the 16 line dancers break every now and then into a somewhat violent Albertina Rasch, but the solo and duet numbers done by Paul Haakon and Eleanor Tannis and by Sheila Harling are beautiful creations. Miss Harling, as a sort of Chinese Theda Bara who vamps Leonard Casey out of his wife and happy home, is a little more alluring in her opening dance than Municipal Opera patrons are accustomed to, but maybe it took something like that to start Mr. Casey along the Primrose Path. Later, in an elaborate and dramatic scene with Haakon and Frank Horn as a third partner, Miss Harling shone to great advantage.

THE story is simple enough. Charlotte Lansing, as Claudette Fortier, just out of a Paris finishing school, goes off to Indo-China to visit her father, who is mixed up in more or less questionable enterprises there. With her goes her sweetheart, Rene Beaulieu, played by Ceely and they are married in the far away country. Not, however, until Claudette has met Rene's brother Paul, Allan Jones, who falls in love with her at first sight but who steps aside when he finds his brother has first place in her heart. All might have gone well if Miss Harling, as Teal Tsing, a local siren, had not put in an appearance and wormed—perhaps wigged—would be a better word—her way into Rene's affections.

From then on things go from bad to worse. Rene gives up his home and his position, takes to drink, and, finally, is killed by Miss Harling who, during, herself, while dancing alone after leaving, Allan Jones and Charlotte Lansing to find the happiness which comes to the leading man and the leading woman in most musical shows.

Miss Lansing sang her role beautifully and Jones, too, was in excellent voice last night. Ceely did his best work after his downfall, and his characterization of an indoor beachcomber in a declining days was a nice piece of work.

THAT really fine actor, Joseph Macaulay, who has had little to do this season, was outstanding in another small role and had duets with Miss Lansing and Jones which marked two of the big spots of the evening. Edith King was delightful also, in an unimportant part, and Leota Lane, a lively French girl intent upon getting her man, scored very nicely.

Throughout it all wandered the funny Frank Gaby as a raiser of jungle elephants who sees the elephant market slip out from under him in the general depression which reached around the world and touched Indo-China. He and the popular Barnett Parker provided plenty of genuine laughter to make the show a great summer night's entertainment. The prize elephant in Gaby's collection, a mechanical affair, was thoroughly lifelike and added considerably to the fun.

There is, of course, since Romberg was the composer, a great deal of attractive music running throughout the entire entertainment. Some of the best numbers in the piece are "It's a Wonderful World," sung by Miss Lansing and Mr. Macaulay, "East Wind," which fell to Allan Jones and the entire chorus, and "I'd Fall in Love Again," sung by Miss Lansing. Victor Herbert opus which has not been seen in St. Louis in many years.

Arriving Sunday to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Endres Meyer, 3 Ladeau road, will be Miss Elizabeth Kemmerer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin T. Kemmerer, of Duluth, Minn. Seventeen parties have been planned for the visitor, the dates for which to be arranged when she arrives. Miss Kemmerer will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer for a month.

Miss Henriette C. Pirrung, who with her mother, Mrs. Clifford W. Gaylord, 816 South Hanley road, is visiting in St. Louis, was hostess at a supper dance Saturday night at the Monmouth Grill. The party was the first supper dance of the season at the resort.

Miss Lansing sang her role beautifully and Jones, too, was in excellent voice last night. Ceely did his best work after his downfall, and his characterization of an indoor beachcomber in a declining days was a nice piece of work.

The prize elephant in Gaby's collection, a mechanical affair, was thoroughly lifelike and added considerably to the fun.

There is, of course, since Romberg was the composer, a great deal of attractive music running throughout the entire entertainment. Some of the best numbers in the piece are "It's a Wonderful World," sung by Miss Lansing and Mr. Macaulay, "East Wind," which fell to Allan Jones and the entire chorus, and "I'd Fall in Love Again," sung by Miss Lansing. Victor Herbert opus which has not been seen in St. Louis in many years.

Arriving Sunday to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Endres Meyer, 3 Ladeau road, will be Miss Elizabeth Kemmerer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin T. Kemmerer, of Duluth, Minn. Seventeen parties have been planned for the visitor, the dates for which to be arranged when she arrives. Miss Kemmerer will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer for a month.

Miss Henriette C. Pirrung, who with her mother, Mrs. Clifford W. Gaylord, 816 South Hanley road, is visiting in St. Louis, was hostess at a supper dance Saturday night at the Monmouth Grill. The party was the first supper dance of the season at the resort.

Miss Lansing sang her role beautifully and Jones, too, was in excellent voice last night. Ceely did his best work after his downfall, and his characterization of an indoor beachcomber in a declining days was a nice piece of work.

THAT really fine actor, Joseph Macaulay, who has had little to do this season, was outstanding in another small role and had duets with Miss Lansing and Jones which marked two of the big spots of the evening. Edith King was delightful also, in an unimportant part, and Leota Lane, a lively French girl intent upon getting her man, scored very nicely.

Throughout it all wandered the funny Frank Gaby as a raiser of jungle elephants who sees the elephant market slip out from under him in the general depression which reached around the world and touched Indo-China. He and the popular Barnett Parker provided plenty of genuine laughter to make the show a great summer night's entertainment. The prize elephant in Gaby's collection, a mechanical affair, was thoroughly lifelike and added considerably to the fun.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

AS the summer season advances many St. Louisians will leave for various resorts, others will go to their summer homes and many will be guests at the summer homes of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Freimuth of Oakleigh lane, will leave July 29, for a visit in California. Miss Feuerbacher will remain in Los Angeles for several weeks to visit her aunt, Mrs. William Smith.

Dr. and Mrs. Louis E. Freimuth of Oakleigh lane, will leave July 29, for a visit in California. Miss Feuerbacher will remain in Los Angeles for several weeks to visit her aunt, Mrs. William Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. William Geoffrey Kimball, 11 Lenox place, and their children have gone to Harbor Point, Mich., where they have taken a cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart Carew of Cincinnati, have arrived to spend the Fourth of July with Mr. Carew's mother, Mrs. Gladys Little Carew of the Park Plaza, and with Mrs. Carew's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Duke Thompson, 5045 Lindell boulevard.

When the Volendam sails from New York tomorrow several St. Louisians will be among the passengers. Miss Hortense Courlander, 4296 Washington boulevard, who has been visiting relatives in Canada will take the Mediterranean cruise and will go to Denmark, her native country. Other St. Louisians on the cruise will be Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Stix, 4931 Lindell boulevard, and their daughter, Miss Betsy M. Stix, and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin L. Bauman, of the Westwood Country Club grounds.

Sailing on the Statendam Friday for England, France and Holland were Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Eiseman, 7139 Cornell avenue, and their son and daughter, Fred B. Eiseman Jr. and Miss Eleanor Eiseman; Mrs. Ernest Jones, Hampton Park, and Mrs. William L. Chambers, 6111 Pershing avenue, and her daughter and son, Miss Mary Leving Chambers and William Nesbit Chambers.

Mr. William E. Candy, 6335 Pershing avenue, and her daughter, Miss Virginia, are making a motor trip in the East. They are now guests at the Lincoln Hotel in New York. They will later go to Boston and Salem, Mass., for a visit with relatives. They will return to St. Louis in about two weeks.

Miss Hilda Hiemenz, 3520 Magnolia avenue, left yesterday for Cody, Wyo., where she will join her niece, Miss Jane L. Hiemenz at Cross Sabers Ranch.

Miss Georgia Thurmon, 6753 Page boulevard, accompanied by Miss Ethel Mae Crowell, 5 Sunset court, Normandy, and her brother, J. D. Thurman Jr., left Sunday for a visit of a month in California. They will visit friends until the last of July, returning to St. Louis by way of New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Neff, 7625 Wydown boulevard, are cruising the Great Lakes on board the "Thonesta."

The Quentin Roosevelt Auxiliary of the American Legion will hold its monthly business meeting Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Vandeventer and Lindell boulevard.

William K. Stanard II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Stanard of Old Bonhomme, who sailed recently for Denmark, will arrive there tomorrow. After a visit in Denmark he will go to Finland and Russia, returning to this country the first part of August. A younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanard, Edwin T. Jr., is at Camp Mondamin in North Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. Stanard plan to take a motor trip late in the summer.

Miss Helen Feuerbacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Feuerbacher of Brentwood, and Miss Josephine Kuhn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. L. Kuhn, 7206 did it splendidly, so that "East Wind" seems quite likely to break the season's record for attendance set by "The Last Waltz." Over 9000 persons attended the opening performance last night.

Next Monday evening the Municipal company is to present "Mlle. Modeste," the Henry Blossom. Victor Herbert opus which has not been seen in St. Louis in many years.

PRESIDENT-ELECT OF COLOMBIA HERE

Alfonso Lopez, Wife and Daughter Spend Two Hours Seeing City.

Alfonso Lopez, president-elect of Colombia, spent two hours sight-seeing in St. Louis yesterday afternoon. He is en route to Mexico, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Maria, and the wife of his secretary, Mrs. Antonio Isquierdo.

The president-elect and his party arrived at 4:30 from New York. They have been in this country since June 22 when they visited Miami. From there they went to Washington where Mr. Lopez had lunch with President Roosevelt at the White House.

From Washington the party went to New York. They left here late yesterday for Brownsville, Tex., where they will take a plane to Mexico, D. F. They will return to Colombia in time for the inauguration Aug. 7. Mr. Lopez was elected in February.

All's Well in Colombia. On his arrival here the president-elect was wearing a brown striped suit, brown striped shirt, brown bow tie and gray felt hat. He carried a black umbrella. His wife was dressed in a blue printed dress and her daughter wore a green dress of similar material.

Asked to comment on present conditions in Colombia, Mr. Lopez said that business was improving chiefly due to the fact that a conflict with Peru over the Leticia boundary had been averted.

"That settlement makes all the difference in the world in our business outlook," he said, with a twinkle in his eye.

"Coffee, bananas, gold, platinum and oil are Colombia's principal products. In all of these industries there are signs of a return to normalcy. There is no internal disorder or violence in Colombia and no need for a dictatorship."

Has Made 20 Trips to U. S. Asked what he had noticed in this country, Mr. Lopez said he had been impressed by the general activity of the people.

"Of course, you must remember that this is not my first visit here," he said. "I have been in the United States at least 20 times before. In fact I attended business school in New York. I am not a stranger to your country."

PRINCE CONSORT HENRY OF NETHERLANDS DIES

Succumbs at the Hague Following Fainting Spell in Red Cross Office Thursday.

By the Associated Press.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, July 3.—Henry, Prince Consort of the Netherlands, died suddenly this afternoon of heart disease, the end coming before Queen Wilhelmina could reach his side.

While the Queen's husband has been ill for several days, he had shown improvement until shortly before his death at 3 p. m. He was stricken in his office at Red Cross headquarters last Thursday. The Queen, then in Switzerland on a holiday, started home immediately, but she was at another palace today when word came that her husband's condition had suddenly taken a turn for the worse. She hurried to the Royal Palace but arrived too late to see him alive. Crown Princess Juliana, who is in London, was planning to leave for the Hague tomorrow to see her father.

Fourth Son of the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg.

Henry Vladimir Albert Ernest was born at Schwerin, Mecklenburg, April 19, 1878, fourth and youngest son of the then reigning Grand Duke, and among his nearest relatives were Cecilie, who became crown princess of Germany; Alexandra, who married King Christian X of Denmark; and Duke Heinrich Borwin, one-time husband of the former Natalie Oelrichs of Chayenne, Wyoming.

Henry's education was typically German. He had a Prussian drill sergeant at the age of 6, and afterward an English governess and a strict Lutheran pastor supervised his studies. His later training was entrusted to a tutor, Freiherr von Blochhoffhausen. Next he took a course of studies at the fashionable Vistula College, Dresden, eventually passing, as most German princes of those days did, into the crack corps of the Chasseurs of the Guards at Potsdam.

Marriage Arranged. It was soon after this time that the announcement went forth that "a marriage had been arranged." The people of Holland were at first inclined to look somewhat askance at another German alliance. Young Queen Wilhelmina's mother was a German, as was her grandmother, and there were apprehensions lest a German consort should draw Holland further into the German orbit, but in other respects the match was eminently "suitable." Henry made a very presentable figure in uniform, and Queen Wilhelmina stood by her choice. They were married at the Hague, Feb. 7, 1901, she being 30 and the bridegroom 24. A month previously, he had been officially naturalized as a Dutch citizen, and a special title, Prince of the Netherlands, was created for him.

In the early days of their married life, there was plenty of gossip about marital discord. Queen Wilhelmina had a firm will of her own, and the atmosphere in the palace was at times said to be electric. The Prince made himself exceedingly popular in 1907 by his gallant conduct when the passenger steamer Berlin was wrecked on the Dutch coast on Feb. 21 of that year, when 152 lives were lost. He insisted on going out with the life-boats in a raging sea, and helped getting the survivors ashore. For a time the land rang with his praise.

Danger Born. When, after eight years of married life, a daughter, Princess Juliana, was born, domestic happiness seemed secure. The silver wedding was celebrated in 1926 amid much popular rejoicing.

Prince Henry's father had the sound idea that every man, should know a trade, and Henry chose cabinet-making, in which he became an adept. He was also fond of mountaineering and climbed some difficult peaks in Switzerland. He was chief patron of the Boy Scout movement in Holland and devoted much time during and since the European war to Red Cross activities.

612,200 RELIEF STUDENTS

FERA Reports On Adult General Education Classes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Federal Emergency Relief Administration reported yesterday it had provided adult general education classes for 612,200 students in 46 states and had given employment to 18,430 needy teachers at a total cost of $5,245,200.

The classes were conducted as a part of the FERA emergency educational program under the supervision of Dr. L. R. Alderman, director. An average of $30.80 a month was paid each school teacher. An average of 30 students was instructed by each teacher.

CHICAGO GARMEN'S PAY RAISED

Surface Line Workers to Get 3 Cents an Hour More.

By the Associated Press.

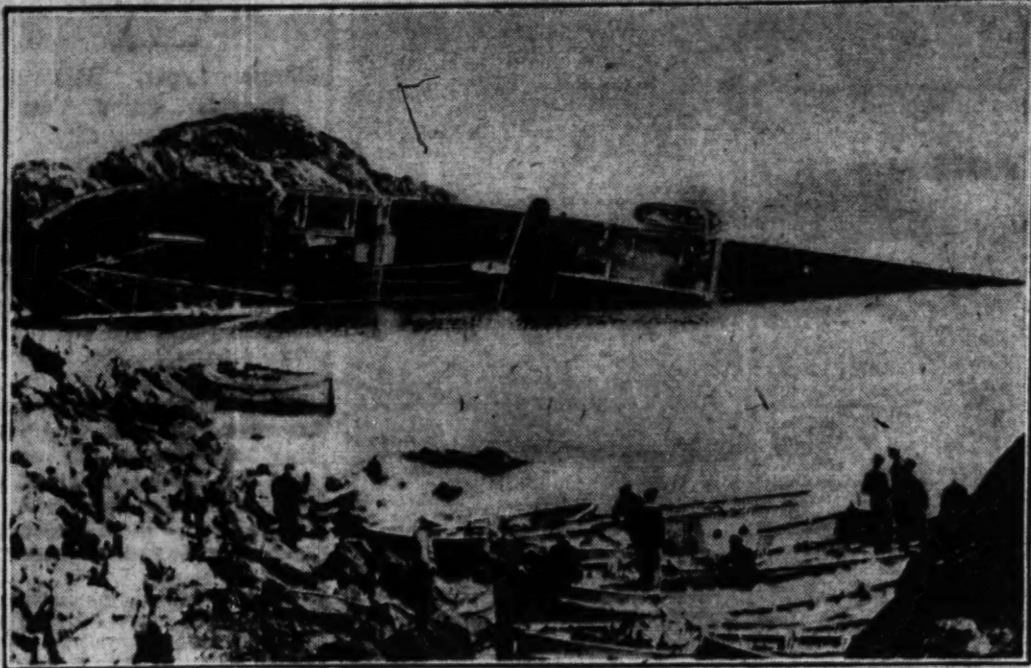

CHICAGO, July 3.—A new wage agreement increasing their pay 3 cents an hour was ratified last night by motormen and conductors of the Chicago surface lines. Guy A. Richardson, president of the surface lines, said the men had voluntarily taken a 7-cent-an-hour decrease in wages and that improved conditions warranted the partial restoration.

GOLDMAN BUILDING OFFICES RANSACKED

Burglars Force Open Desks on Three Different Floors at 709 Pine.

Three offices in the Goldman Building, 709 Pine street, were ransacked last night by burglars, who forced open desks and cabinets. A check-up this morning established that nothing of substantial value had been taken.

On the fifth floor of the building the Garner Leather Goods Co. office was entered, and on the fourth floor the offices of the Fred R. Richardson Jewelry Co. and the Doughty Engraving Co.

Ralph Kindel, who has an office on the third floor, went there about 10 o'clock last night and encountered a man who mumbled something about meeting someone there, and ran from the building. Kindel called police, who discovered the burglars. A pair of rubber gloves, a crowbar, and three screw drivers were found in the building.

Beatrice Creamery Co. Collector Robbed of $162.

Robert Walker, collector for the Beatrice Creamery Co., was robbed of $162 last night by two men who forced his automobile to the curb near Twenty-second street and Washington avenue, and held him up, keeping their hands in their pockets as though to conceal weapons.

Max Ellman, 1516A Clara avenue, was held up in the 1000 block of Leffingwell avenue by two Negroes who robbed him of $19.

Wilfred J. Boka, 4941A Devonshire avenue, reported that burglars had entered his home, stealing a $1000 diamond ring, $50 in cash, and an automatic pistol.

FIRE AT VIENNA CITY HALL, ONCE SOCIALIST STRONGHOLD

Government Officials Alarmed; Bomb Is Set Off at Tocsenisen Palace, Salzburg.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, July 3.—Vienna's city hall, former Socialist stronghold, was the scene of a fire today. The fire, although quickly extinguished, caused the greatest excitement in Government circles. Emil Fey, Minister of Public Security, rushed to the scene with other high officials.

The blaze—possibly of incendiary origin—started among carpets piled in a small storeroom in an inner court. The damage was estimated at less than $5000. The elected municipal authorities were driven from the building during the February Civil War between Socialists and the Government. After that the Socialists called it "our stolen city hall."

Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, head of the Heimwehr, boarded a plane for Salzburg immediately on receipt of news that an explosion had occurred at the marble hall of the Tocsenisen Palace, where both the Provincial Director of Public Safety and the Salzburg police have their headquarters.

Although the building had been closely guarded an explosive was placed on the second floor, just outside the door of the Security Director's private apartment. The bomb caused heavy damage but no one was reported injured. Police suspected that workmen recently employed in repairs may have built a time bomb into a partition into the wall.

George Jones and Mrs. Hattie Ritter Victims of Crash on Minerva Ave.

George Jones, 5087 Knight avenue, and Mrs. Hattie Ritter, a widow, 601 Westgate avenue, were injured yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding collided with another car at Blackstone and Minerva avenues. They were taken to St. Luke's Hospital. Jones suffered a fractured hand and lacerations of the body and Mrs. Ritter a skull injury. The driver of the other car, Paul Dardick, 5895 Minerva avenue, was not injured.

29 RADIO STATIONS TO SEND OUT WEATHER NEWS TO FLYERS

Service Every Four Hours Provided Under Supervision of Department of Commerce.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Weather forecasts, valuable to aviators, will be flashed by radiotelephone every four hours over the nation's airways, after July 15. The Bureau of Air Commerce announced yesterday that this new forecast service would be started by 29 stations under supervision of the Department of Commerce. Other stations will be added later. Stations inaugurating the service include: Chicago, Ill.; Cincinnati and Cleveland, O.; Fort Worth, Tex.; Springfield and St. Louis, Mo.; and Wichita, Kan.

The new service will be in addition to the hourly weather forecasts which are available at airports which have Commerce Department Communication facilities.

TEXAS PASTORS' GROUP VOTES AGAINST PRAYERS FOR RAIN

One Minister Thinks Drought Is Retribution for Flowing Up "Lot of Food."

By the Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 3.—The Tarrant County Baptist Ministers' Association will not pray for rain to break Texas drought. The members decided against it after a heated debate yesterday.

"I doubt that we deserve rain," said the Rev. S. H. Frazier. "If we are suffering, we must remember that the Government plowed up a lot of food last year. This is retribution for the greatest gambling mania in history. Furthermore, two-thirds of the population never even darken a church door."

"But we must remember," countered the Rev. Goldman Drury, "that our God is a God of mercy. People are suffering through no fault of their own."

DIVORCEE CALLED TO DOOR OF HOME AND SHOT DEAD

Man With Whom Mrs. Bertha Hobbs of Trenton Quarreled Recently Is Slain.

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, Mo., July 3.—Mrs. Bertha Hobbs, 46-year-old divorcee, was killed last night by a man who called her to the door of her home and shot her. Police are seeking Archie Finley, 32, with whom Mrs. Hobbs is said to have quarreled recently.

Mrs. Kate Graham, a neighbor, said the man knocked at a side door. Mrs. Hobbs ordered him away.

"All right, I'll go in just a minute," Mrs. Graham quoted the man as saying. He thrust a shotgun through the screen door and fired.

Beckmann shot at the intruders, wounding Null. The second man was captured.

FRENCH CUT APPLE IMPORTS

Will Increase U. S. Quota If Trade Advantages Are Given.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 3.—Importation of American apples and pears will be restricted sharply unless the American Government accords certain advantages to French exporters, it was disclosed yesterday with announcement of France's new bartering policy.

The quota of American apples and pears to be accepted the third quarter of this year has been cut to 1200 half-tons. An additional 1155 half-tons will be allowed to enter if the United States grants equivalent tariff or quota advantages to French exporters. Importers of apples and pears have complained they are handicapped because the American Government up to now has shown no disposition to adopt the bartering system in international trade.

NANKING AIDS JAPAN OVER U. S. IN TARIFFS

Increases Levies on American Goods, Cuts Those on Products From Nippon.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, July 3.—The Nanking Government increased import tariffs today. Classifications announced show that virtually every article in which Americans are dealing received a sharp tariff increase while the levies on lines in which Japan is interested, especially cotton goods, sea foods and various chemicals, either remain unchanged or are reduced.

Some Chinese business circles condemned the new schedules, saying Nanking had permitted Japanese influence to affect it. American business men said the new schedules were a grave added burden on American business in China.

While the levies on sea foods emanating principally from Japan are unchanged or lowered, the levies on those from United States and Russia were increased about 30 per cent.

Items increased, sometimes as much as 50 per cent, in which the United States is particularly interested, include: metals, manufacturers of which are on the Pacific Coast; sea foods, groceries, meats, fresh dried fruits, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, dyes, pigments, paints, lumber, photo supplies, sports goods and automobile tires.

Motor cars, airplanes, tobacco and liquors already bear the limit of duties and tariffs on them were not changed.

SOVIET "CULTURE TRAIN"

Moves Between Towns, Providing Movies, Books and Baths. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MURMANSK, USSR.—A "culture train," which moves up and down the line of the Murmansk-Petrozavodsk line for the instruction, amusement and service of the inhabitants of scattered settlements, has just been put into service.

The train contains a small moving picture theater, a library and a reading room, a bathroom and a fumigating point. Among the staff are two doctors, a barber, tailors and bootmaker, who are at the service of settlers along the line.

Headed it is Clark Howell Sr., publisher of the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution, who once before was called on to study transportation problems of the nation. He served on the National Transportation Committee named by the late President Coolidge.

Transportation Phase. The transportation phase of the aircraft industry is one of the major subjects awaiting the study of the committee. The growth of air lines has come within the last half decade. At present, such governmental regulation as exists is in the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Commerce Department.

Other carrier systems operating within the country and across State boundaries come within the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Suggestions have been made that a separate agency be established to regulate the common carriers of the air.

Closely allied with this subject is that of the future policy of Government toward lighter-than-air craft, both military and commercial.

Dirigible disasters in recent years have given rise to arguments for abandonment by the Government of a shipbuilding program. In the meantime, those interested in establishing commercial airship lines—eyeing the operation of the Graf Zeppelin in its trans-Atlantic run—have argued that the Government should encourage building of the big ships for passenger and mail carrying by some form of subsidy.

Consideration of War Use. The commission, in its shaping of an air policy, will study the question from the interrelated point of commercial and military flying. Like the Government's policy for ocean shipping, Federal aid to air commerce is based on the idea that the commercial carriers quickly can be converted to weapons in event of war.

Arguments advanced in Congress and elsewhere for a united air force, similar in composition to that of the British Royal Flying Corps, also are expected to come within the purview of the commission.

Foremost among the Congressional advocates for merging the Army and Navy air forces into a single unit, highly mobile and with bases well scattered over the country, is Representative McSwain (Dem.), South Carolina, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee.

Because the Postoffice Department is operating on a temporary air mail program—the result of the cancellation of all air mail contracts for this winter—the future permanent policy for this form of service will demand the attention of the presidential commission.

The question of expansion of Government aid to flyers in the form of lighted routes, weather information and similar benefits, now carried on by the Department of Commerce, also awaits the commission.

FUNERAL DELAYED 6 MONTHS

W. A. Burnett Buried at Dallas, Tex., After Litigation.

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., July 3.—Delayed six months by litigation, funeral services were held yesterday for W. A. Burnett, roofing contractor who died Dec. 16.

The widow arranged for the burial last December, but in the statement of Andrew Priest, attorney, that Burnett had expressed a wish to be buried in St. Louis beside the body of a former wife, the services were delayed for a court decision.

BOY, 15, KILLS MOTHER FOR MAKING HIM STUDY

Shots Her From Window as She Works in Garden at Coral Gables, Fla.

By the Associated Press.

CORAL GABLES, Fla., July 3.—Mrs. Nina D. Shay, 40 years old, was shot to death yesterday when a 15-year-old boy fired a shotgun at her while she worked in the garden at her home.

Police arrested her son, Harry Allen Shay, 15, who had been studying in a room a few feet from the garden. The boy confessed, police said, that he killed his mother because she insisted that he study English during the summer vacation. He had failed in English at school last term.

Police found a shotgun given the boy as a Christmas present under the mattress in his father's bedroom. A box of shells was found under a chair cushion and a discharged shell was discovered in another part of the house.

The father, an automobile salesman, was in Miami at the time of the shooting.

FORMER CUMMINGS ASSISTANT NAMED IN NEW INDICTMENT

Raymond S. Norris and Attorney Charged With Conspiracy to Defraud Government.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Raymond S. Norris, former special assistant to Attorney-General Cummings in Washington, was named yesterday in a superseding indictment charging him with conspiring to defraud the Government out of the honest, fair and impartial services of its servants and officers.

The indictment was returned by the Federal grand jury, and covers the ground of the original indictment in greater detail.

Solomon Charles Sugarman, disbarred attorney of New York, also was named. Norris and Sugarman were indicted after the trial of the so-called Stender-Hosley and Mills Research Corporation mail fraud case, which resulted in the conviction of several defendants. During the trial it was testified Norris had been connected with a view to obtaining information to the Government's attitude on a possible delay of fraud order proceedings.

Agency Enter Into 20-Year Contract.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Inauguration of an international express system, designed to speed shipping service to South American countries, was announced yesterday in a joint statement by Pan-American Airways System and Railways Express Agency, Inc.

Under a contract signed by J. T. Tripp, president of the airline, and L. O. Head, president of Railways Express, representing the American railroads, the new service will start on Aug. 1.

The service, Tripp and Head said will co-ordinate the express shipping facilities of the railroads with the Pan-American International Air Transport System. The 20-year contract extends express shipping facilities of the American railroads for the first time to South American countries.

CHURCHWOMEN RAID STILL

CONWAY, S. C.—The women of Rebon Church thought Horry County authorities a bit slow in raiding a whisky still that was running full blast just two miles from their place of worship.

So they armed themselves with axes, swooped down on the plant, overturned the mash vats and smashed the still and coils. When the officers arrived in response to complaints, the women said: "Thank you just the same, Sheriff. We took care of it ourselves."

$2,360,000 EAST SIDE
CANAL LOAN APPROVED

Foul Ditch Along Highway 40 to Be Eliminated When Work Is Completed.

The East Side Levee and Sanitary District yesterday received from I. F. Stern, assistant state PWA engineer, official notification that its $2,360,000 loan and grant for the diversion of Cahokia Creek has been approved. S. H. Kernan, president of the board of trustees, said that work would start as soon as the PWA contract was received and the necessary property acquired.

The application for the loan submitted to PWA officials stipulates that the principal will be repaid over a period of 16 years, with the first payment falling due in 1939. A part of the 30 per cent grant will be applied on interest for the first four-year period of the loan to keep taxes down, Kernan said.

Under the plans drawn by levee board engineers, the diversion canal will connect with a sharp bend at the northwesterly end of Cahokia Creek, flow thence in a southward and westward direction, and finally enter the Mississippi at a point near Winter avenue and Front street—3200 feet upstream from the present outlet. The total length of the canal will be 11,525 feet, or about two miles shorter than the present channel of Cahokia Creek.

E. F. Harper, chief engineer of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District, said that about 250 men would be employed on the project over a period of two years. The canal will be partly open channel with a base width of 36 feet and partly reinforced concrete pipe. Four backwater gates will prevent the waters of the Mississippi from backing up during flood stages. Pumping station with a capacity of 2000 cubic feet per second will assure a steady flow through the canal.

It is expected the canal will eventually be an outlet for sewage from the northern part of East St. Louis and the southern part of Madison County, including all Lansdowne, Washington Park, Fairmont, National City, Brooklyn, Madison, Venice, Nameoki and Granite City. Above all, the canal will eliminate the foul-smelling ditch along highway 40 opposite Indian lake, extending from the Ninth street underpass almost a mile in the direction of Fairmont city.

Kansas City Auditorium Strike. KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 3.—About 470 iron workers and carpenters employed in the construction of Kansas City's new Municipal Auditorium went on a strike yesterday. No announcement of the trouble was made, but it was understood it involved the discharge of a carpenter foreman and the changing in shifts of two iron worker foremen.

LIBERALS VISIT CONVICTED NEGRO COMMUNIST IN ATLANTA

Group Headed by Playwright Rejects Military Escort Offered by Georgia Governor.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., July 3.—A group representing New York liberal organizations yesterday visited Angelo Herndon, Cincinnati, a Negro Communist sentenced to 18 to 20 years for attempting to incite insurrection.

The group, headed by John Howard Lawson, playwright, received a cool reception in the office of Assistant Solicitor John Hudson. Lawson quoted Herndon as having said one woman member of the party how many times she had been arrested and as saying he did not intend to have any "bums" interfering in Georgia affairs.

Earlier the group visited Gov. Talmadge and asked permission to see Herndon. The Governor granted it and offered them a military escort which they did not use.

Talmadge told them, however, that Herndon had a "chip on his shoulder" and advised them to tell him to take it off and that he was not being persecuted by Georgia. Other members of the group were Winnifred Chappell, secretary of the Methodist Federation for Social Service; William Rollins Jr., New York author; Martin Russak of the National Committee for the Defense of Political Prisoners, New York; Herbert Abrams, New York, a member of the Civil Liberties Union; Philip Serber of New York, also a member of the union, and Mrs. Lawson.

PARTIAL JOB INSURANCE IN FORCE IN WISCONSIN

Men and Women Who Get Less Than $1500 a Year to Benefit by Plan.

By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis., July 3.—Wisconsin is entering this month a new field of social legislation—partial job insurance for men and women who receive less than $1500 a year.

The law was enacted in 1932 and was to have been effective a year ago, but an intervening legislature authorized the State Industrial Commission to defer the operation of the act until there was an increase in employment. That in the meantime the law had been passed and the commission gave employees until midsummer this year to get ready.

How Plan Operates. The first year will be devoted to building cash reserves to finance the system. Employers will set aside 1 per cent of their payroll in a trust fund which can be kept as a bookkeeping account. When the fund reaches a certain maximum depending on the employer's volume, contributions will cease, and employees need make no further payments until withdrawals reduce the fund below its top level.

No eligible employee can claim benefits for loss of his job until July 1, 1935, when the funds can be drawn upon. An employee who has received less than $1500 during the preceding 12 months then will be entitled, if thrown out of work through no fault of his own, to claim benefits equal to one week's wages for each four weeks of work.

The employee must, however, serve a probationary period of four weeks which are not counted in computing benefits. If he is laid off one week after the probationary period expires, he is entitled to one-fourth of a week's wages, and so on in the same ratio.

Most Employers Included. The employers to whom this act applies are those who have 10 or more employees, regardless of what their jobs are or how much they receive. It therefore includes most employers.

The law prescribes the plan of insurance but is elastic in that modifications can be made with approval of the Industrial Commission. Under certain circumstances workers will be permitted to contribute to the insurance funds, but such contributions will not lessen the comparative financial responsibility of the employer.

One modification allowable is the guaranteeing of 42 weeks of work for each eligible employee annually. Where this is done, the employer is not required to establish any financial reserve, but his financial qualifications must be approved by the commission.

MARIE DRESSLER ABLE TO EAT
But Doctors Still Hold No Hope for Actress' Recovery.

By the Associated Press.
SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 3.—Physicians still had no hope for recovery, but Marie Dressler, 62-year-old movie star, was so improved today that she was able to take solid food. She is said to be incurably ill of complications of uremic poisoning and cancer. Hope was abandoned Thursday, but she rallied.

Doctors said the food today was the first in two weeks that she had been able to digest. She had been kept alive on liquids.

YOUNG MODERNS GIVE TIBET FIRST FACTORY

Lamaist Monks Fight New Ideas Which Threaten Their Power.

PRIPING, China, July 3.—American and British-trained Tibetan students, returning to their native land from abroad, have built Tibet's first factory. This has smashed the traditions of 5000 years and caused consternation among the monks and priests who rule the land.

Three miles from Lhasa, capital of the Himalayan kingdom, the factory already is making copper and silver coins and printing paper currency—a thing unheard of before. It is also making uniforms and other equipment for the Tibetan army. The machinery in the factory is operated with hydro-electric power from the first electric generating plant in Tibet.

Kusho Ringong, a youth of 23, educated at Rugby in England, is the Tibetan who had the courage and initiative to build the country's first factory. His firm has supplied the machinery. His action in introducing machinery into this highly theocratic country is seen as the opening gun in a bitter battle between the Conservative Party, led by the Lamaist leaders of the great monasteries, and the Progressive Party, made up largely of younger men with foreign education.

Monks Fight Modern Ideas. The very existence of the Lamaist monks and monasteries which dominate the country depends upon Tibet remaining aloof from the outer world and banishing all attempts to modernize the country by the introduction of machinery and Western methods.

The younger men of Tibet, like Kusho Ringong, want to break the stranglehold which the monks have on the country. They want to convert Tibet into a modern democracy instead of a primitive hierarchy. Jenseh Taron, the youthful commander-in-chief of Tibet's national army, which numbers 4000 or 5000 men, is on the side of the reformers and wishes to bring his country up to date.

Opposing the reformers, however, is a religious army of 100,000 Lamaist monks, who do not want to see reforms introduced which would threaten their existence. It is said to have been the dying wish of the late Dalai Lama, the temporal pontiff of Tibet, that Tibet should remain the land of the Lamas, and that anything which might tend to bring religion under civil control should be discontinued.

Tibetans Lead Simple Lives. Isolated from the rest of the world by 25,000-foot mountains which form the mighty Himalayan chain, the people of Tibet have never seen an automobile, an airplane, a wireless set, a typewriter, or any other modern appliance. Simplicity characterizes the life of the Nomads and the Lama monk. He sleeps on the bare earth in a yak-hair tent. He drinks Chinese tea, flavored with butter, and eats barley flour.

Men and women wear heavy sheepskin clothing, which they never remove, even when they die. They spend their whole lives in prayer, in the hope of gaining a better life in the hereafter. They believe that neither airplanes, nor automobiles, nor dynamite will get them any nearer to Heaven.

HEARING ON NRA SUIT TO HOLD LUMBER FIRM TO CODE PRICES

Sutherland Co. Attacks Government's Authority, Says Its Business Is Infringed.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 3.—The Sutherland Lumber Co., operating in Iowa, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Missouri, challenged the authority of the NRA yesterday.

The company argued in Federal court that the company's business was interstate and not intrastate. The Government, seeking a permanent injunction, contended lumber for the company was shipped from the Northwest to its various plants and such shipment constituted interstate commerce.

Eldon Marshall, attorney for the company, said the concern was charged with selling below a theoretical or hypothetical price. "There is not a single allegation of a sale except of one instance in Oklahoma when the Government contends the defendants sold shingles below the code price," Marshall said.

FRISCH TO USE WALKER OR CARLETON AGAINST CLUBS TODAY

WEST NAMED BY CRONIN TO PLAY ON ALL-STARS

NEW YORK, July 3.—After blueprinting the recommendations of Gus H. Fan on how the rival major league all-star teams should take the field for the battle at the polo grounds, one week from today, Managers Bill Terry of the National League and Joe Cronin of the American League made public today their selections for each squad of 20 men.

The two young pilots, who take over the jobs handled last year by Connie Mack and John J. McGraw, were vested with final authority in the effort to put the strongest possible teams together. The final results of the newspaper balloting were made public yesterday, and Cronin and Terry lost no time demonstrating where they differ sharply from the fans who had the final say on a year ago.

Cronin, besides naming Frank Ruffin as his pitcher, selected Earl Averill of the Indians, radically shifted the pitching list.

Cronin agrees with the fans that Vernon (Goofy) Gomez of the Yankees is the No. 1 fliker in the league, but instead of picking Earl Hitchcock of the Senators, Lefty Grove of the Indians, who was selected by the fans, he picked three choices in order in the popular poll, he has selected Red Ruffing of the Indians, Mel Harder of the Indians and Tommy Bridges of the Yankees.

For instance, Ruffing, who now has pitched three shutouts in a row, was mentioned in the poll. On the other hand, the fans' apparent expectations that Grove would recover his former skill have not been fulfilled and the celebratory left-hander is not in shape. Instead, regularly for the Red Sox, much less against an all-star National League array.

There are no surprises, otherwise, in the American League lineup. Lou Gehrig, Charley Gehringer and Cronin will round out the infield with Higgins, while Babe Ruth and Henie Manush will share the outfield duty at the outset with Simmons. Cronin departed from the voting list in picking Sam West of the Browns for reserve outfield duty, instead of Carl Reynolds of the Red Sox, besides selecting Rick Ferrell of the Red Sox in preference to Rolfe Hemsley of the Browns for back-stopping aid to Bill Dickey and Mickey Cochrane.
Ferrell caught the entire all-star game for the American League at Chicago last year.

Jackson of Vaughan?
Bill Terry hasn't decided yet whether his teammate, Travis Jackson, the popular choice, or Arky Vaughan of the Pirates will start at shortstop, but otherwise he has comparatively few differences with the verdict of fandom. The only noteworthy shift is that Mel Ott of the Giants will be a starting outfielder along with Joe Medwick, retained along with Chuck Klein of the Cardinals and Jack Klein of the Cardinals.

St. Louis Standouts

and Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals. Bottom Sam West, Browns; Joe Medwick, Cardinals. They may be given places on the All-Star teams that will represent the two major leagues in the annual game at New York, July 10.

U. S. DAVIS CUP SUCCESS ALL UP TO SIDNEY WOOD, TILDEN THINKS

By W. J. McGoogan
The Davis Cup, provided by Dwight Davis, prominent St. Louisan, emblematic of world tennis supremacy, may return to the United States, but not this year, in the opinion of Bill Tilden, famous professional player, who is here to play in the Clayton invitation tournament.

In fact, Bill doesn't have much confidence that the Americans will reach the challenge round, but predicts that they will fall before the Australian team led by Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath.

"We will have a chance," said Bill, "but it is not very great. I think it is all up to Sidney Wood.
I believe Crawford will win two singles matches from our boys, probably have the edge in the doubles with either Lott and Stoefton or Lott and Allison. Neither combination is seasoned, but either is a potential point winner.

Tilden doesn't favor Grant.
"I favor England to retain the cup," with Australia as second choice.

Tilden is to depart from St. Louis to New York, whence he is to sail for Europe to cover the matches for a newspaper syndicate.

HELEN JACOBS IN SEMIFINALS AT WIMBLEDON; MISS PALFREY LOSES

By the Associated Press.
WIMBLEDON, England, July 3.— Helen Hull Jacobs, the American champion and top-seeded favorite, today won her quarter-final match in the all-England tennis championship, but little Sarah Palfrey, the other American survivor, was eliminated by the veteran French woman, Mme. Rene Mathieu, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Jacobs, playing flawlessly, defeated Cilli Aussem, the German girl who won the title in 1931, 6-0, 6-2.

Dorothy Round, main hope of the English, also won her quarter-final encounter from Mlle. Lolette Fayot of Switzerland, 6-4, 6-2, but Margaret (Peggy) Scriven, ranking English No. 1 and French titleholder, was put out by the sensational Australian champion, Joan Hartigan, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Miss Jacobs plays Miss Hartigan in an semifinal, while Miss Round and Mme. Mathieu meet in the other.

Miss Palfrey, favorite of the galleries after her lack in defense of the Wightman Cup two weeks ago, was sadly off form against Mme. Mathieu. Although she rallied to take the second set, she again faltered as the French woman swept through to decisive victory.

The results of the semifinals were a vindication of the seeding so far as Miss Jacobs and Miss Round were concerned. They being listed 1 and 2 respectively. But Mme. Mathieu was rated no better than eighth and Miss Hartigan was not seeded at all.

The New Man Mountain—Note the Pillars of Hercules

Here's Jack Torrance, the new world's champion shot putter, performing at the recent A. A. U. meet, where he won with a push of 55 ft. 5 in. Torrance is about the biggest successful athlete in the world. He weighs 30 pounds more than Primo Carnera.

World's Champion Shot Putter Rejects Offers to Become Pro; Will Point for Olympic Games

NEW ORLEANS, July 3.—The world's greatest shotputter, "Man Mountain" Jack Torrance of Louisiana State University, was so poor a performer in this event as a high school lad that he did not even qualify for the shotput finals in the state high school championship meet.

It might have been because "Baby Jack" didn't care anything about putting the shot. Records show Torrance was a pitcher and catcher on the Oak Grove (La.)
High School baseball nine, a center on the basketball quintet and a fullback on the football eleven.

In these three sports he was a fairly proficient high school athlete, but no great shucks, as the country boys would say. Torrance entered Louisiana State at 18 in 1931 and began his shot putting career in 1932 under the direction of Bernie H. Moore, track and field coach.

"Baby Jack," the shot putter, is, therefore, strictly a Moore product.

UMPIRE KLEIN'S RULING ON INFIELD FLY CAUSES PROTEST OF 7-4 DEFEAT

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, July 3.—Was it an infield fly or wasn't it? Well, they were still arguing about it today as the Cardinals and Cubs prepared for the second game of their short two-piece series before taking an overnight train to Sportsman's Park, where the same two teams meet again in a holiday double-header tomorrow.

Umpire Bill Klein's decision in the seventh inning of yesterday's game, protest over which caused the enforced and premature exits of Manager Frankie Frisch and two of his helpers, and which may or may not have had any real bearing on the contest which the Cubs won, 7 to 4, still was a moot point today.

The Puzzling Pop.
As you probably have heard, four singles off young Paul Dean in the seventh sent one run in to make the Cubs lead 4 to 1 and left the bases filled with one out. Then Chuck Klein, the next batter, lifted a high pop fly near the plate along the first base line.

Catcher Bill De Lancy threw off his mask, ran out and poised himself. The wind carried the ball foul. Then it brought it back fair. But De Lancy had poised himself two points to the rear of where the capricious wind finally decided to send the ball. The sphere popped to the ground.

Meanwhile Leon Warneke, seeing the ball was fair, scooted home from third. De Lancy retrieved the ball and pegged it to the plate in ample time to get the Cub hurler. The throw, however, was wild. Warneke was safe. The score was 5 to 1 and the bases remained filled.

Immediately Frisch started making faces out loud at Klein. Why wasn't it an infield fly? Why wasn't Klein out under the infield fly rule? The faces he made apparently were too disrespectful. He was invited to leave the premises. When Frisch was escorted out, Coach Mike Gonzalez and Dizzy Dean, seeing a chance to do some talking, came charging out of the dugout. "And you, too," Klein said, impolitely doing some finger-pointing in their direction at the same time. The "too-ed."

Later Klein explained that Rule 44, Section 8 (the infield fly rule) says that the batter is out if, with first and second occupied or the bases filled, he hits a fair fly ball, other than a line drive that can be "handled" by an infielder.

Klein's Ruling.
In that seven-letter word "handled" lies Klein's explanation. The "infielder" in this case, De Lancy, wasn't in a position to handle the ball, he says. If he wasn't in a position to handle the ball, he couldn't trap it and by trapping it start a double play, which is what the rule seeks to prevent. Therefore, according to his reasoning, it was not an infield fly.

As the game was played, it probably would have made little difference if Klein had been called out immediately on an infield fly as soon as the ball started to land and Warneke had held his base rather than risk advancing "at his own peril." Such action would have for his eleventh victory of the season, gave up seven hits—two by Orsatti and one each by Frisch, Durocher, Collins, De Lancy and Crawford—and probably would have had a shutout if Frisch, W. Herman and Klein hadn't erred five times behind him. Lou stopped Medwick in four trips to send his batting average down five points to .351. Another factor was the absence of Pepper Martin with a sore arm.

The loss was the Cards' third in their five road games, with only that 18-inning victory and that five-inning tie at Cincinnati Sunday to their credit.

Today Manager Frisch had Bill Walker in mind to southpaw for him against the Cubs' Guy Bush, although he reserved the right to switch to Tex Carleton. Walker hasn't made a start since suffering a broken arm several weeks ago.

WEINSTOCK AND ERNST PLAY FINAL TODAY IN HIGH SCHOOL NET MEET
Robert Weinstock, University City High School, and Edwin Ernst, Country Day School, will meet this afternoon in the finals of the first annual high school tennis tournament at the Triple A courts. The final match has been held up for some time due to the other tournaments being held in the district in which the high school players were competing.

Weinstock reached the final round last Saturday on a default from Mark Martin Jr., while Ernst defeated Jack Shinn in his semifinal round match two weeks ago.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Cleaning House.
JEEMY LONDOS apparently is determined to mop up all the outlying champions so that he can retire from the game with no blemish on his title claim.

Don George is to be the next victim. George, you know, is the "champion" of the American Wrestling Co. operated by Paul Bowser of Boston, now affiliated with the Happy Family of the Wrestling World, Ltd., with Jimmy Londo and Tom Pecks as the patriarchs of the family circle.

SHINE DEFEATS HOWARD STEPHENS TO WIN TENNIS TITLE

SUBLETTE STAR CAPTURES LAST THREE SETS IN JUNIOR FINAL

By Davison Obar.

Jack Shine, Sublette star player and former Christian Brothers High School athlete, won the St. Louis District Junior singles tennis championship by defeating Howard V. Stephens Jr., Country Day School star, in the final round at Lewis Park, University City, yesterday afternoon. The score of the match was 5-7, 3-6, 10-8, 6-3, 8-6.

The match was started last Saturday afternoon, but was stopped by rain in the third set. When play resumed yesterday, Stephens had two sets and the score was 5-7 in games, with Shine leading, 40-30, in the eleventh game.

Shine captured the eleventh game but Stephens kept up a stiff battle until the score reached 8-11 in games. The new champion then broke through Stephens' service and took his own to win the set, 10-8.

In the next set Shine held the advantage due to excellent volleying and fast service. Stephens rallied in the final set, but Shine's accurate shots gave him the victory. The two players exhibited the best tennis seen in a junior final here in many years. Both juniors hit the ball hard throughout the match as a contract to some earlier round contests.

Shine, a southpaw, owes his victory to a well-placed hard service and some excellent volleying at the net. He came in after service frequently for points. Stephens also played well at the net position, but his service and backcourt shots were not so effective.

Shine succeeded Robert Wein-stein, who was declared the District champion after Frank Keady was discovered over age after the tournament last year.

Stephens Brothers in Final. The Stephens brothers, Howard and McLeod, reached the final bracket of the junior doubles by defeating Edwin Ernst and Lawrence Mullen in a semifinal round match yesterday. The score was 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

Charles Eberle and Robert Mullen won the boys' doubles title by defeating James Johnson and Elmer Price, 6-3, 6-3, in the deciding match yesterday afternoon. The boys' doubles event was not held last year.

TENNIS EXHIBITIONS AT NORWOOD TOMORROW
Eight of the leading men and women tennis players of the St. Louis District will participate in exhibition matches on the court of the Norwood Hills Country Club tomorrow afternoon. These matches will be a part of the Independence day program and will start at 3 o'clock.

The program will consist of three singles and two doubles matches. All the players who will compete are holders of either national or district championships.

The men players who will take part in the exhibition are Charles McMillin, recent winner of the Clayton open men's singles title, Charles W. Barnes and Sexton, now holders of the National Public Parks champion; Mrs. Ella Deitz-Felbinger, holder of the National Parks doubles title with Mrs. Prosser; Mrs. Violet Furlong, district indoor mixed doubles champion; and Billie Benson, Granite City champion.

Fritzie Zivic Defeats Ran.
By the Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 3.—Fritzie Zivic, 139, of Pittsburgh, last night was awarded a split decision over Eddie Ran, 144, of Chicago, in a 10-round bout. The crowd cheered the decision. Ross Fields, 135, of Weldon, W. Va., defeated George Pace, 124, of Cleveland, and Paddy Gray, 136, of Greensburg, beat Dany Allen, 132, of Pittsburgh.

Cooper Wins Third Successive Golf Title in Extra Hole Match

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 3.—"Light Horse" Harry Cooper, veteran Chicago golf professional, is wondering how much longer it will be before he can win a tournament without going overtime.

Cooper yesterday won his third consecutive title, in taking the Illinois pro tournament, but for the third time, had to play extra holes. He tied at the end of 36 holes with Dick Metz at 149, then went on to win in the extra 18 holes with a 74.

The New Junior Tennis Champion

Jack Shine, who defeated Howard Stephens Jr. in the final of the district junior title tournament at Lewis Courts, University City. Stephens won the first two sets of the match Saturday and then lost the last three yesterday, scores 5-7, 3-6, 10-8, 6-3, 8-6.

World Champion Shot Putter Refuses Pro Offers

Because he had to develop co-ordination, speed and form for these factors count in shot putting, as in all other things athletic.

And almost everybody underrated the competitive spirit of the big country boy. In the past two years Torrance has proved beyond any question that he is at his best—the world's greatest shot put—when under what is called "pressure."

The records show that Torrance's first competitive meet was a varsity-freshman affair in the spring of '32. He put the shot 43 feet 4 1/4 inches.

That created no comment at the time. Almost everywhere shot putters were doing better. His development was rather slow. He won the Southern Conference championship with 47 feet 3 inches, but failed to qualify in the Southern sectional trials which preceded the American Olympic trials at Palo Alto.

However, from the beginning of the 1933 track season Torrance began to move up until at the national collegiate in Chicago in June he put the shot 52 feet 11 inches. This performance surpassed the accepted world record of 52 feet 7 1/4 inches made by Z. Hejzlas of Poland in 1932, yet it was still shy of the unofficial mark of 53 feet 1/2 inch made by Leo Sexton.

So, at the opening of the 1934 season, Torrance put the shot 53 feet 6 inches to surpass the mark made by Sexton. Forgotten now were Hejzlas and Sexton and the feats of Ralph Rose, the California giant of 25 years ago (first man to put the shot 50 feet) was but a memory and a dim one.

For the next month, Torrance toyed with the shot. Then came a report from Palo Alto that John Lyman of Leland Stanford had put the shot 54 feet 1 inch.

A new threat to Torrance's reign as king. Well, well, what "Baby Jack" would do about it.

What he did was to go to the Drake Relays one week later and toss the 16-pound shot 55 feet 1 1/4 inches—one foot and one-half inch farther than Lyman or anybody had ever done.

Then came the national collegiate meet in Los Angeles and the first meeting between Lyman and Torrance. In the trials on Friday, Lyman beat Torrance, 53 7/8 to 53 7/4. But, untruffled, Jack came back the next day and, taking up the iron ball, heaved it 54 feet 6 3/8 inches.

U. S. CREWS TO ROW FOR TITLES IN HENLEY REGATTA

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England.

July 3.—Byes of the European rowing world are focused on the principal event of the British season, Henley Regatta, which commences tomorrow.

It will be the occasion of the biggest foreign invasion since the great war. Five eights, one four, three pairs and eight scullers have entered from abroad. Although nearly half this number are marked with an asterisk on the official lists, meaning "subject to confirmation," it is certain there will be enough outside competition to make British oarsmen look to their laurels.

The Big Race.
In the most important race of all, the Grand Challenge Cup contest, British prestige is threatened by the Princeton University "A" crew, the "Tigers" which has arrived in England and is busily preparing for the event. It has lost only one of seven contests this year, and experts consider it has a distinct chance of success.

Princeton's principal rival is likely to be the London Rowing Club, holders of the trophy, which last year defeated the Berlin Ruder Club in the final by a quarter of a length. Pembroke College, Cambridge, also is expected to give a good account of itself.

The next most interesting race is the diamond sculls, and the foreign entries, judged by numbers alone, are almost overwhelming.

The draw for the first round of the competition brackets Winthrop Rutherford of Princeton University with A. V. C. Douglas of England. They will meet tomorrow.

Rutherford, freshman coach but amateur sculler, came over with the Princeton varsity crew which will compete for the grand challenge cup.

One of the Tiger substitutes, Henry Bugbee, also has entered the sculls and is drawn against H. L. Warren of England in the first round.

Guillermo Douglas of Uruguay, a competitor in the 1932 Olympic sculling event, is drawn against Herbert Buttz of Germany, 1932, winner of the diamond sculls, for the first round.

Britain's outstanding contender this year is Leslie Southwood, who finished fourth and last in the Olympic final two years ago.

In the Thames Challenge Cup there is Kent School, U. S. A. These husky scholars have been presented with a new boat and seem in a fair way to repeat their success of last year.

American crews from Yale and Princeton, the Eli "eights" and "fours" and Nassau varsity have entered for this event. The Yale "fours" crew alone figures among the entries for the Wyfold Challenge Cup. It is the second foreign crew to do so, the first being a Norwegian four which competed successfully in 1921.

There are pairs from Germany, Austria and Holland competing in the Silver Goblets race. Good reports have been received regarding the Dutchmen, who have many successes to their credit in continental events. It is thought that the English pair will be capable of defeating this event successfully.

CRONIN NAMES WEST TO PLAY ON AMERICAN LEAGUE ALL-STAR TEAM

The Cubs, leaving Wally Berger of the Braves, third choice in the poll for reserve duty. Pie Traynor, Frank Frisch and Terry complete the infield.

Terry named only two catchers. A' Lopez of the Dodgers and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, in order to have an extra infielder. He first substituted his own Joe Moore in the list of reserves for Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs. But he made his selections on Saturday before the fans' vote was complete, and when Cuyler ended with a larger vote than Moore he switched back to the Chicagoan for Kiki.

He did choose Fred Frankhouse of the Braves, leading National League pitcher, in preference to Paul Dean of the Cardinals or Guy Bush of the Cubs. Frankhouse fared poorly in the poll, but he has a reputation for his base on pitching performance, but the Americans present an array of sluggers who may offset that advantage.

WRAY'S COLUMN

We Believe It.
THIS cruel wrestling game still goes on and nobody makes a move to stop it. Despite the anguish visualized in the recent Brownings-Londos contest there was not the faintest suggestion that the bout should be stopped or the rules of the game gentled. "Primitive stuff and we like it," says John C. Customer. Even our own commissioner believes in "making it rough."

But don't be unduly alarmed, boys and girls. Have you ever noticed how well our wrestlers get along? They wax and grow fat under punishment. What masters 150 title matches a year—we can take it, eh, Jessy?

They are hardy animals, these wrestlers, and to prove it we will quote you just a paragraph from a writer in the New York Sun referring to a holocaust at Long Island Bowl, which was won by our Mr. Londos:

"Both were in magnificent condition after their week of training and, despite the fact that they had neither been drawing a hard breath at the finish!" It sounds reasonable.

No Standing.
WRESTLING matches now and then may be advertised by the New York Commission as being of "championship" quality, but the Londos-Brownings match failed to inspire any impression of sincerity among the bookmakers here.

No odds were laid for or against either man.

"I had one or two calls about the affair," Betting Commissioner T. Kearney told this writer. "But, of course, the nothing-does sign was out. I haven't gone crazy yet. I barred wrestling from speculation maybe 10 years ago and there's nothing been to restore my good opinion of it."

"One fellow came in before the match, and offered this: 'Say, I'll bet you 2 to 1 Londos wins from Brownings,' and dug out horses running at tracks other than local ones."

"Well, I'd like to bet Londos gets beat," I told him. "But I gotta have better odds than you offer."

"What do you figure the odds ought to be?" he says.

"Well," says I, "I'd like to bet you about $1 against $2000 that I'm right."

"Sure he knew I was kidding him—he was trying to kid me, wasn't he?" Did he think I was petitor. But against the Australians or the English, he would not have the chance of a post.

"Wood, when he is in a truly great player, so is Shields on his best days, no matter how infrequent they may be; but Grant, no."

"Frankie Parker is one of America's best prospects. He needs a forehead to be great and with it will be outstanding."

"Tilden is just completing a tour of 10,000 miles by automobile which he and his crew have made in five weeks, playing five nights a week and sleeping when possible."

Attendances at the various tournaments in which he has competed recently have been bad, Tilden said, but he has not quit on the idea that the public wants professional tennis.

RUNYON NAMES STANDOUTS OF ALL TIME IN 10 LEADING SPORTS

By Damon Runyon.

(Copyright, 1934.)

NEW YORK, July 3.—Every man, looking back over 20 years or more of competitive sport, probably has his own special favorites in every field, favorites that he thinks will never be surpassed.

The writer knows aged men who are firm in the belief that John L. Sullivan could have licked all the fighters that have come along since his time, that Mike "King" Kelly never hit an equal as a ball player, or Isaac Murphy, the Negro, as a jockey.

He knows slightly younger men who will argue that Joe Gans, the plaintive looking oyster shucker from Baltimore, was the greatest fighter; John Honus Wagner the best ball player, and Tod Sloan all alone as a jockey.

Every generation has its own giants, to whom the present athletes are pygmies. Men who think they are still young find themselves arguing right now as to the merits of Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, as against the idol of the new generation, Max Baer.

Heroes of the Past.
The generation that was young with Ted Clark of Yale, and James J. Jeffries, the mighty California grizzly, will never be convinced that there have been any football players or heavyweight fighters since.

Another generation knew Christy Mathewson, and Jim Thorpe, and "Red" McLaughlin, the California comet, and the great Brickley, of Harvard, and this generation is not apt to concede that better men were ever born.

Why Damon—How Could You!
The writer, reflecting on the various performers he has seen in the course of a long experience, picks as his favorite 10, the following:

Tennis—Bill Tilden.
Boxing—Max Baer.
Swimming—Johnny Weissmuller.
Horse—Gallant Fox.
Jockey—Earl Sande.
Football—Jim Thorpe.
Track—Faavo Nurni.
Wrestling—Jim Londos.

This list must not be taken as the writer's choice of the greatest he has seen, merely as his favorites from the standpoint of the things they have given him. Perhaps they should be classified as his most interesting performers.

Jeany No Match for Frank.
For example, the great wrestler, Frank Gotch, during these many years, could have thrown Londos all night long. But Londos, in being thrown, would have been more interesting to watch than Gotch doing the throwing.

Gallant Fox, the horse, was probably not in Man o' War's class, but somehow Gallant Fox struck the writer as the more colorful performer. Willie Hoppe, at his peak, was perhaps far above Alfredo de Oro, the Cuban, as billiard, yet the writer liked watching De Oro best.

Max Baer couldn't have whipped one side of Gene Tunney. But Tunney lacked the astounding color that is Baer's. Tunney was a cold-blooded scientist of his game, Baer is a comic, a great entertainer.

Of all the individual performers of the past 20 years, there are perhaps only two whose utter supremacy cannot be disputed. They are Bobby Jones, in golf, and Tilden, in tennis.

The writer has seen many golf players who entertained him far more than Jones. Yet none of them could as caddy for Jones when it came to playing.

Tilden, a tremendous player, had vast color, surpassed in that respect only by woman, Suzanne Lenglen, of France.

Babe Ruth, an amazing fellow, stands second to Cobb in the writer's estimation as an entertaining baseball player. Those who never saw the "Jewell of Georgia" on one of his great days, may marvel at the placing, those who did see him, must agree with the writer.

Ruth is a mighty slugger. We shall never see his like again. But Tyrus Raymond Cobb in full flight, was a nine-tinning show in himself. He was to baseball what another name is left off the writer's list only because a slightly greater entertainer was there ahead of him.

The Passing Show.

I SEE the Reds and Redbirds played an eighteen-inning game. And though the victory was delayed, The Redbirds won the game. It was indeed a thrilling match. Which ended with a brilliant catch. When Medwick saved the day.

The Redbirds had to do their stuff. The victory to score; They found those Reds were plenty tough.

Though easy heretofore, J. "Dizzy" Dean, who went the route.

Until the final frame, And in the eighteenth taken out. Gets credit for the game.

The Brownies and Tigers split. On Sunday afternoon, And Mickey Cochrane will admit. Those Brownies are no boom. The Tigers' claws they've often shown.

And if you ask his ribs, He'll tell you that they are a thorn.

In a Tiger's ribs. Them Were the Days. Remember way back yonder when all Carl Weiland, the elegant pitcher of the Browns, had to throw his glove in the box to make the Tigers roll over and play dead?

To the Tigers, when hitting the high spots on the road to Pennsylvania.

ville, the Browns used to look like one of those big vases occupying the middle of the road.

Fred Frankhouse, the first pitcher in the major leagues to win 11 ball games, would like to know what a guy has to do to get on the All-Star team. so would Mel Ott.

However, since the managers, we understand, have the privilege of going behind the returns and picking whom they please regardless of the vote they might get on yet.

Babe Ruth came through on momentum as did "Lefty" Grove. We said there was no sentiment in baseball?

"15,000 Watch Broaca Beat Senators." THERE was a young fellow named Broaca, a young fellow, At whom the Nats took a swell poaca;

But those ambitious Nats Had to lay down their bats For John was an ace and the jock.

Mickey Cochrane has indefinitely suspended Gerald Walker for sleeping while on duty. In the army they shoot 'em at sunrise for that.

If Jack Torrance knows how to he can put that 16-pound shot and doesn't he go out and put it there and have it over with?

Pitchers complain that the seams of the new rabbit ball are too fat to grip effectively. Why not put a handle on it?

If they raise the stitches on the ball enough it would be only a question of time until they had the old ball game sewed up.

"LONGEST PAYS $21 MILE EVERY FEATURE"

Whether Fairmount will hold a fall meeting earlier in the year, is according to General M. S. Eddy, who, with the present meeting in sight, the attendances have been desired.

Fairmount's story is peated tale these times. The present meeting money appear on holidays, with a corollary of both throughout the while, the overhead like Old Man River, rolling along. Racing here and elsewhere show a profit with the receipts being eaten up overhead.

FAIRMOUNT OFFICIALS UNDECIDED AS TO RACING NEXT FALL

"LONGEST SHOT" PAYS $217.58; MILE EVENT IS FEATURE TODAY

By Damon Kerby

Whether Fairmount Jockey Club will hold a fall meeting as planned earlier in the year, is undecided, according to General Manager Robert S. Eddy, who, with the end of the present meeting in sight, said that the attendances have left much to be desired.

Fairmount's story is the oft-repeated tale these days in professional sports. Spectators, who appear on week-ends and holidays, with a corresponding lack of both throughout the week. Meanwhile, the overhead expenses are like Old Man River—they just keep rolling along. Racing promoters here and elsewhere say they can't show a profit with the week-end receipts being eaten up by week-day overhead.

Weather as Factor.

The weather has been a factor that has militated against the success of the present meeting, as Eddy pointed out. "The torrid weather," he said, "has been against us. It has helped to keep attendance down. Outside of Saturdays and Memorial day, the attendances have left much to be desired."

Eddy also said that conditions as they are all over the country are much to be desired. The racing public, apparently, still hasn't the money it used to have.

Fairmount still has 26 racing dates available for the 1934 season, and if a fall meeting is held, it will likely start the Saturday before Labor day. But Fairmount officials expect to make no decision until later in the summer.

The 3000 spectators who were present yesterday received more than one shock in the second race. The first came when two horses went down in a cloud of dust on the far turn, spurring their riders, J. Scullock and F. A. Smith.

Princess Paul, with Smith aboard, fell and rolled part way under the inside rail, and Buddy's Choice, following close behind, tipped over, following his horse. Scullock received only head bruises, but Smith, an examination disclosed, had been hurt internally and he was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis. He is reported resting comfortably.

They Do Win—Sometimes.

The spectators divided their interest between the injured jockeys, who were being taken from the track, and the odds board, for Carbine's Goldy, the longest shot in the race, had come on to win and pay $217.58 to show. Only once according to track officials, has this win price been exceeded at Fairmount. Buddy's Choice was prohibitive favorite in the race at odds of 2 to 1.

Carbine's Goldy, coupled with Aut Widenstein in the daily double, returned $511.44, and there were eight winning tickets on this combination, according to the management.

A race at a mile, in which nine were entered in the overnight list, will be the fifth and feature of today's card. The meeting will close with tomorrow's holiday program.

BONTHON PLANS TO QUIT TRACK AT END OF TOUR

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, July 3.—Bill Bonthon, considered one of the United States' best prospects for the Olympic team in 1936, said today he would quit his running career this fall after a European tour "unless there are unexpected developments."

Bonthon, who ran the 1500 meters Saturday in world record time to beat Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, is here visiting his parents.

"I plan to quit after this running season, and nothing I know now will make me change my mind," he said. "Of course, there might be unexpected developments of some sort, but I don't know now what they would be."

Bonthon plans to devote his time to business and will specialize in public accounting. He leaves Detroit today for New York, and then London, where he will join the combined Princeton-Cornell track team in competition with the Oxford University team at London. From London he will go to Stockholm to join the American team touring Europe.

He graduated this year from Princeton.

CHINCH BUGS ATTACK PLAYERS, DELAY GAME

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., July 3.—Chinch bugs, which delayed Forsaking succulent corn stalks, thick droves of the farm pests swarmed over two semi-pro baseball teams in Glen Oak Park and delayed the game.

The chinch bugs seemed to like the change of diet, and burrowed into the sweaty flannel of the players' uniforms. Batters and pitchers found their vision obstructed, and for half an hour the teams cooperated to battle bugs.

WILSON RELEASED IN DEATH OF PEDDLER

Officers Are Convinced He Is Innocent of Murder at Tourist Camp.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SIKESTON, Mo., July 3.—James Wilson, 28 years old, arrested at Jonesboro, Ark., Friday for questioning in connection with the murder of W. J. Hammond, itinerant peddler, and the wounding of Mrs. Hammond at a tourist camp here June 20, was released Sunday and her husband at tourist camp that he was not the man they sought.

Wilson, who gave his name as Jimmy Wright when he was arrested at Jonesboro, was taken to a Cape Girardeau hospital Saturday to be viewed by Mrs. Hammond, who is recuperating from her injuries.

The peddler's widow identified Wilson as the man who was with her and her husband at a tourist camp at Jonesboro, but said he left there and had not been with them for several days before the slaying at Sikeston.

RATES OF SHERRARD POWER COMPANY ORDERED REDUCED

Annual Revenue of $35,000 to Be Cut 12 1/2 Pct.; 20 Communities in Three Counties Served.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 3.—The Illinois Commerce Commission today ordered immediate reductions in rates of the Sherrard Power System, Inc., which distributes electricity to approximately 20 communities in Mercer, Rock Island and Henry counties.

The company's annual revenue approximates $35,000, which will be reduced about 12 1/2 per cent by the commission's orders since the rate reduction campaign was started last year.

About 40 per cent of the Sherrard system's customers are rural.

SIX ILLINOIS COUNTIES MEET CORN-HOG PRODUCTION QUOTAS

13 Other Completing Adjustments to Obtain Share of AAA Benefit Payments.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 3.—Six Illinois counties have completed one of the last major steps preliminary to receiving checks for their share of approximately $35,000,000 to be paid to Illinois farmers in AAA corn hog benefit payments.

The six counties which have adjusted the contracts of their farmers to meet quotas of corn and hog production as set by the State Board of Review are Cook, Calhoun, Bond, Lawrence, Gallatin and Will. Thirteen others, Boone, Saline, Williamson, Monroe, Wabash, Effingham, Fayette, Madison, Scott, Green, Logan, Dewitt and La Salle, are near meeting their quotas, A. J. Surratt, chairman of the Board of Review, said.

Contracts must be typed in final form, signed by co-operating farmers and sent to Washington after necessary clearance papers have been obtained from the State Board of Review. Officials of Agriculture Adjustment Administration have assured signers that checks for benefit payments will be mailed just as soon as possible after receipt of the contracts at Washington.

MOBERLY'S WATER SUPPLY AT LOW EBB FROM DROUGHT

Month's Supply Left in Reservoir; Halfway Used 11,750,000 Gallons in June.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOBERLY, Mo., July 3.—Moberly's water supply rapidly is reaching the "critical" point. The city now has only about a month's supply of available water left in its big reservoir, and, in case of emergency, another month's supply in each of two smaller reservoirs. Three deep wells are also available, but it is believed they would not supply the needs of the town.

An especially heavy drain on the water supply here is caused by the Wabash Railway. This being a division point on that road, the company uses approximately as much water as does the city. Approximately a million gallons of water a day are used here by the Wabash and the city. In June 15,750,000 gallons were used by the city and 11,750,000 by the Wabash.

At present the water level at the big city reservoir, three miles northwest of the city, is 12 feet below the top of the spillway. Only about six and one-half to seven feet of water remains in the lake. The water level is lowered about a half inch a day now, and as the water is lowered evaporation and use will lower it even more rapidly.

City officials fear that if heavy rains do not come soon, the city may face a serious water shortage. The Moberly waterworks is municipally owned.

Goodman (Mo.) Woman Killed and Sister Seriously Injured When Driver Loses Control.

JOPLIN, Mo., July 3.—Miss Marjorie Cain, 18 years old, of Goodman, in McDonald County, was killed and her sister, Mrs. Hugh Price, suffered fractures of her pelvis and both hips when a light truck driven by her father crashed over the side of a bridge near their home Sunday night.

The car hung momentarily over the side of the bridge, throwing its eight occupants into the creek bed, then fell on the two women, crushing them.

FARMERS SAID TO BE KEEPING CORN-HOG LIMITATION

Chief of This Section of AAA Admits Part of Reduction Is Due to Drought Conditions.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 3.—Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the corn-hog section of AAA said today the recent pig crop report indicated farmers were conforming to terms of the corn-hog contract governing limitation on production.

The corn-hog contract called for a 25 per cent reduction under the average number produced for market during the last two years, Black said, and the pig crop report showed a reduction of 27 per cent under the average for 1932 and 1933.

If the number of sows to farrow this fall is about the number now estimated, the total for the year will be about 9,551,000 head, or about 31 per cent less than the average for the past two years, he added.

"Although the indicated reduction in the 1934 pig crop is partly the result of the drought, the relatively high price of corn and the relatively low price of hogs last fall and winter when hog marketings were heavy," he said, "the reduction called for under the corn-hog contract undoubtedly is the major factor in the current adjustment."

SHAW CALLS CATTLE-BRANDING 'HORRIBLE, HELLISH, PRACTICE'

Playwright So Writes to Texan Who Wanted Him to Draw Design.

By the Associated Press.

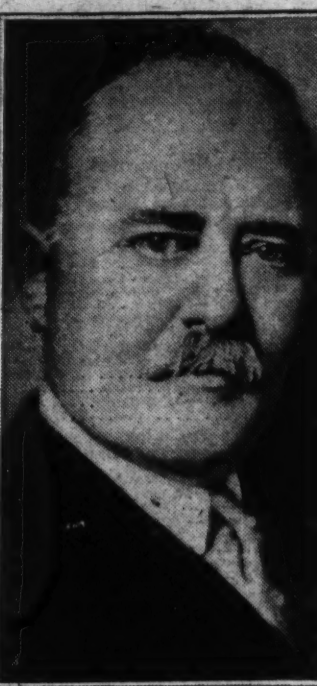

PLAINVIEW, Tex., July 3.—The branding of cattle, George Bernard Shaw wrote to Marion F. Peters of Plainview, "is a horrible and hellish practice."

Peters, a collector of cattle brands drawn by famous persons, asked Shaw to devise a brand.

"Why?" the playwright wanted to know. "There is evidently some catch in this," he explained.

An explanation was attempted, but it was not to Shaw's satisfaction. Again he wrote: "I am more in the dark than ever and can only say that I regard the branding of cattle as a horrible and hellish practice."

TEACHERS COLLEGE ATTORNEY CALLED UNNECESSARY EXPENSE

Auditors Say Southwest Missouri School Is Only One of Kind to Retain Lawyer.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 3.—Employment of an attorney by the Southwest Missouri State Teachers College at Springfield was termed an "unnecessary expense" in a report of auditors working under State Auditor Forrest Smith.

"This is the only teachers' college retaining an attorney and we believe this is an unnecessary expense as the Attorney-General's office should be able to handle all legal business for the college," the auditors reported.

The auditors recommended sale of all cafeteria equipment at Central Missouri State Teachers College, Warrensburg. The cafeteria is not being operated and the "equipment is in a very bad condition owing to the fact that it was not properly cleaned and stored," the auditors found.

SLAIN, SHOT 7 TIMES IN HEAD

Pennsylvania Farmhand Found Dead by Berry Pickers.

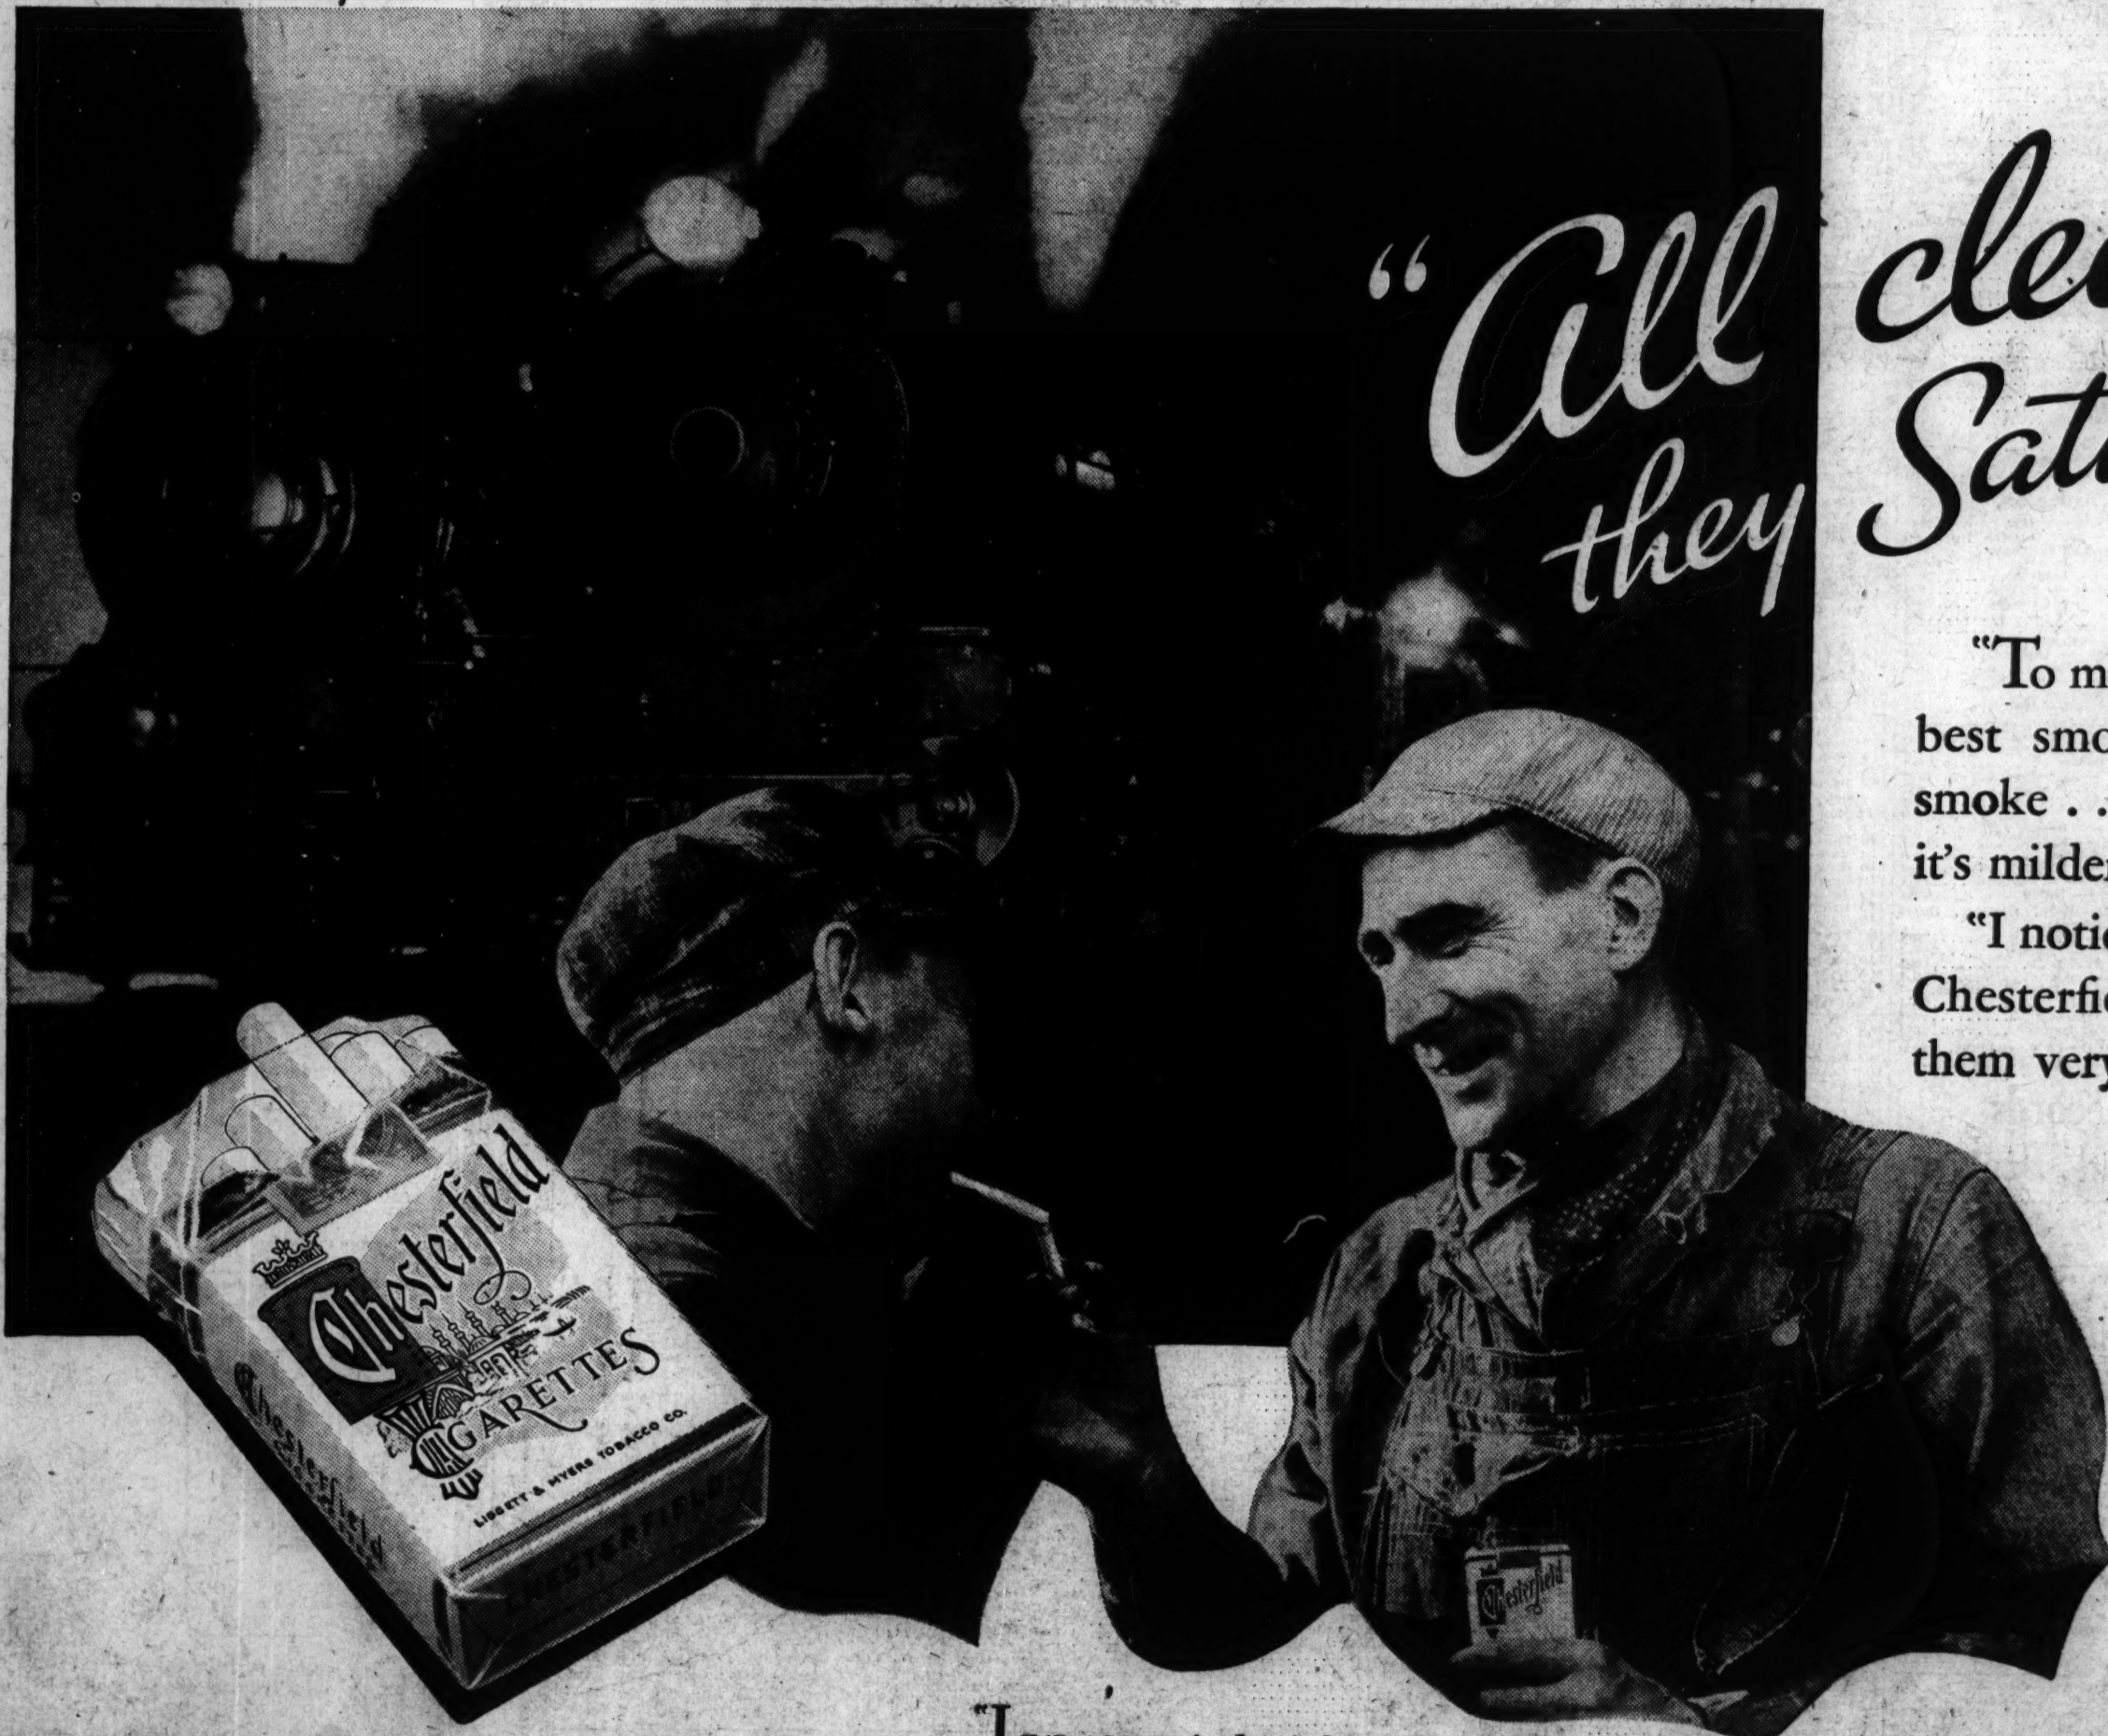

By the Associated Press.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., July 3.—With seven bullet wounds in his skull, Vincent Kubis, 58-year-old farmhand, was found dead yesterday by William Fisher and his children as they were picking berries. The body lay 500 feet from the farmhouse of Kubis' employer, Joseph Balash.

Balash told police that Kubis chased him and his wife from their home with a series of shots. Neighbors said they heard shots but paid no attention. Police said an empty pistol was in Kubis' hand when the body was discovered. An inquest will be held.

More From Germany.
The Kaiser's Praise.
Heads Still Rolling.
Vatican Resentment.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1934.)

TILL the news is from Germany. Everything else dwindles. Old President Hindenburg congratulates all the survivors. Some of the dead may be better off than the living.

According to a dispatch, Roehm, who had fought at the side of Hitler since the beginning, did not commit suicide. Left with a loaded revolver in his prison cell, he refused to kill himself and after being given "10 minutes more," was shot down by a firing squad.

The former Kaiser expresses amazement at Hitler's energy and strength. He says Hitler is "stronger than ever."

It is clear the Chancellor does not lack strength of will or swiftness of execution. Before he had seized complete power he predicted "heads will roll." They are rolling, and Hitler's head man, Goebbels, predicts that "more heads will roll."

The Pope's Government in the Vatican resents bitterly and naturally the statement that Heinrich Klausner, head of the Catholic Action party in Berlin, has committed suicide. An official of the Vatican recalls that "only recently Klausner made a noble speech to Berlin Catholics, which was read with deepest satisfaction by the Vatican." The Vatican official adds:
"We must strongly protest against the attempt to camouflage murder as suicide, since the Catholic religion forbids suicide. Militants, like Klausner, would not dream of taking their own lives."

The same official said further:
"It is deplorable that, not content with killing their adversary, the Brown Shirts threw mud at his noble figure."

The shootings, suicides, arrests and denunciations in Berlin recall days of the French revolution when Mirabeau, treacherously serving the Royalist party, would have been guillotined had not death taken him first; Danton, the intellectual force of the revolution, was executed by Robespierre. Robespierre in turn was guillotined, his jaw broken so that he could not talk at the last, very painful for a revolutionist. Marat, the last who rose to power, was butchered in his bath by the French girl, Charlotte Corday, and at last Napoleon came to put them all at work killing people in other countries, for his glory.

Hitler announces that the soldiers in his troops must be 100 per cent pure and moral, or at least refrain from the vile forms of degradation. That was not the idea of Napoleon to whom is credited the saying, "The worse the man, the better the soldier. If soldiers are not corrupt, they ought to be made so." Samuel Johnson said, "Every man thinks meanly of himself for not having been a soldier or not having been at sea." If reports from Berlin are correct, no man need think meanly of himself for not having been a soldier of the type that Hitler has been shooting recently.

What is to happen? Hitler had built his tower high, stood on the top, while Germany held its peace, or shouted: "Heil, Hitler!" giving the Nazi salute. That tower appears to be crumbling at the bottom, undermined by inside treach-ery.

Suppose it falls, and Hitler crashes with it, what next? There is only too good reason to fear that savage atrocities and reprisals might ensue, massacres on a big scale, not only of Germans of Jewish blood, of whom Hitler had tried to make national scapegoats, but also of other Germans guilty of achieving success, or possessing wealth.

That the Hitler collapse would be followed by horrible violence is only too probable. What would come afterward?

Would extreme "red radicalism" come to the front to take control?
Would there be that union of Russia and Germany that many Germans advocated immediately after the signing of the Versailles treaty?

It is interesting to read that today Russia is lending money to Germany indirectly by buying German exchange for gold, strengthening the mark. In what position would England, France, Italy and the rest of Western Europe be if Germany and Russia should unite, Germany supplying the scientific knowledge, the chemical skill, the perfected industrial equipment, and Russia the power of will that has successfully defied the civilized world while putting through with marvelous success a plan that, in the beginning, was universally decried?

There is really no important news

VIDA HURST

THE News said there had been trouble with the main motor of the night plane for Los Angeles which necessitated a forced landing. Fortunately no one had been hurt. The passengers had made the best of the delay waiting in the darkness of an air-choke field until cars could be secured to take them into the nearest town. The passenger list included "Mr. Martin Elliot and Miss Elsa Rieger."

Ruth read no more. She couldn't believe that Martin and Elsa had deliberately taken the same plane for Los Angeles. If Elsa had intended to accompany him, why hadn't he told Ruth? Perhaps he hadn't known she was going. It might have been coincidence which unwittingly made them passengers on the same flight.

After meeting Elsa, however, Ruth couldn't believe that, either. It must have been planned innocently enough, no doubt, but a flicker of that same emotion which had tortured Martin made Ruth wince at the thought of them together in that dangerous descent.

Ruth had never known the pangs of jealousy before, but she was shaken to the soul by them that night.

Where was Martin now? Why hadn't he telephoned her? Was it because he was with that slanting eyed, deep-voiced woman who had looked so meaningfully at Martin while admitting that she found San Francisco "more enchanting than ever?"

After Martin's insistence that Ruth refuse to go out with anyone else while he was gone, he certainly wouldn't be inconsistent enough to go to Los Angeles with Elsa Rieger.

"There must be some mistake," Ruth said over and over. "If I keep cool, he will probably explain everything."

Remembering her previous resolution not to be suspicious, she determined to say nothing until he had been given a chance to clear himself. And before she went to bed she burned the paper in the fireplace so that Aunt Mary wouldn't see it and ask embarrassing questions.

She was rewarded by a call from Los Angeles the following morning. Martin's voice was warmly reassuring as he cried, "I was afraid you might be worried. We were not in much danger, but the papers seem to have made a lot out of it."

He had said, "We." Had he unconsciously included Elsa?

"I read about it in the News last night," Ruth said.

THERE was an instant of suspense, then Martin laughed. "I suppose you know that that Elsa and I were on the same plane? One of our mutual friends told her I was leaving that night and as she was planning to come the next day she changed her reservation and came with me instead."

"I was sure it must be something like that."

Martin sounded relieved. "We're going to have to take a lot of kidding from everyone who knows us. I've had six telegrams already wanting to know if we were trying to elope or just sneaking out of town."

Ruth hoped her giggle was convincing. "It was rather incriminating, wasn't it?"

Her heart raced at the sudden change in Martin's voice. "I don't give a hang what anyone else thinks so long as you understand."

"I do, Martin, darling," she cried, eager to prove her trust. "I hoped you would. Knew you would, in fact. Be good, my sweet, until I see you again. I'll be home just as soon as possible."

Ruth turned from the telephone with a prayer of thanksgiving ringing from her heart. How glad she was that she had not confided her suspicions to anyone, even her aunt. Martin loved her so much he had telephoned all the way from Los Angeles to let her know she had nothing to fear from Elsa Rieger.

Proudly then she went about her duties, an engaged girl whose fiancé was in Los Angeles on business but would be returning the first of the week. Monday she began to listen for the telephone. Tuesday she watched for the postman; Wednesday and Thursday were twin eternities of waiting, broken only by serving the customers who were beginning to gather. Ruth was so anxious for Martin's return that she forgot to worry about the tea room and with the strange pervasiveness of insomnia that increases. A few girls stopped every morning for breakfast. A certain group made it a habit to meet there every noon for lunch and Scotty's fraternity brothers loyally continued their praise which was the best form of advertising.

By Friday Ruth appeared so listless that Aunt Mary decided she was overworked.

"During our rush hours we'd better get a couple of university girls to wait tables and wash dishes for their board," she suggested.

RUTH made the necessary arrangements, but continued to droop until suddenly, over a week after he had gone away, Martin telephoned that he was back and everything in the girl's little world seemed to burst into music. "Martin's home again," she sang. "My goodness gracious, is that what's been the matter with you?"

TODAY'S PATTERN

A Chic Frock

IT requires no field glasses to see that the young lady in the sketch is wearing a very smart frock. We don't know what she is looking at, but we are dead certain that a lot of eyes are looking at her. . . . with a glint of green in them! Though there is no reason for it! "Excessive use of lipstick has greatly increased the world's troubles. Lipstick is not healthy. It is not safe!"

At last! A fearless statesman who gets right down to fundamentals!

In times like these we need men like Senator Neely, who strikes straight from the shoulder, hews to the line, lets chips fall where they may and wears no man's collar.

Sensor Neely would be just the man to frame a strong resolution condemning the recent drought.

Hot Apple Roulettes Prepare a very rich baking powder dough and roll out into a thin sheet. Lay over it thin slices of peeled apples and sprinkle with shaved maple sugar, ground cinnamon, currants and minced candied lemon peel. Dot with bits of butter and roll up like jelly roll. Cut in slices down through the roll and lay in a buttered pan. Sprinkle with sugar and ground cinnamon and bake until crisp in a fairly hot oven.

Unintentional Acts Influence Most People

By the Rev. Joseph Fort Newton.

IN London a group of young men were having a gay party. They were all set to make a night of it, gambling and drinking. One of them noticed a light in a window across the street, and a hand slowly writing. The shade was slowly drawn and he could not see the face of the writer, but he knew who it was.

It was Sir Walter Scott, old and ill, writing against death in order to pay his debts and save his good name. The boys tried to go on with their party, but could not make a go of it, while that hand went on writing in the night. At last they gave it up as a bad job and went away. Sir Walter never knew that he broke it up.

A boy in college got badly twisted up in his religious thinking, as so many do in our day. His mind was scrambled, confused, and he was deeply alone. At last he decided to go to church once more, as a kind of farewell, and he selected the early morning communion service, because he knew that few others would be there.

In front of him, across the aisle, sat the Dean of the Graduate School, the one man in college for whose intellect and character he had most respect. Unable to pray himself, he watched the Dean at worship, struck by his simplicity and his humility, as he repeated the service to himself without the aid of a book.

As he watched he thought within himself, "If an intellectual Titan can be a sincere and humble believer, it must be that there is something the matter with my head." So instead of giving up the religion of the church, he decided to go on and fight it out. To this day the Dean does not know what his prayer meant to a boy.

Only a small part of our influence goes into our acts. The rest is realized in unseen effects of which we are seldom aware. We do not know what our lives mean to others, and we are responsible for our unknown influence, as well as for what we do. Often enough what we do or say.

Apricot Cobbler Two cups apricots. One-half cup sugar. One tablespoon flour. One-eighth teaspoon salt. One teaspoon cinnamon. Three tablespoons butter. Two-thirds cup water or apricot juice.

Mix apricots, sugar, flour, salt and cinnamon. Pour into buttered shallow baking dish. Dot with butter and add water. Cover with dough using:

One and one-half cups flour. Two teaspoons baking powder. One-fourth teaspoon salt. Six tablespoons fat. One-third cup milk. Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in fat with knife. Slowly add milk. When stiff, dough forms, pat out and fit over apricots. Make four holes in top. Bake 25 minutes in moderately hot oven. Unmold apricot side up and serve warm or cold.

Nuts can be "chopped" for nut cookies by placing them in a cloth and rolling them with a rolling pin.

Walter Winchell in California

SAN FRANCISCO.—Alice Hughes dropped out of the skies just now. . . . A breath from Manhattan she is en route to the Orient. . . . The same plane brought Assistant Secretary of Labor McGrady, assigned by the Roosevelt administration to the local strike of longshoremen. . . . Mayor Rossi's secretary, Raphael, brought the diplomat to see me. . . . I trust matters are settled with the laboring lads amicably, and that when the strike ends—all concerned will be satisfied. . . . It just rained a little here. . . . They certainly are doing their best to make me feel as though it is New York, rain and everything, heheheh. . . . You miss the rain in Los Angeles.

Mack Gordon, who with Harry Revel, writes most of the nation's songs, usually forgets where he is if a song idea or passage hits him. . . . That is, Mack starts moving his lips or talks to himself, to phrase a lyric line or two. . . . No matter if he's in the subway, a restaurant or hotel lobby. . . . Revel, his composer, is a shy little chap, who blushes easily. . . . Imagine then, Revel's embarrassment last night as the three of us went up in the St. Francis elevator (there were some strangers in it, too) and Gordon, staring blankly at his composer, blurted out: "Honey, I'm so blue, all because of you!"

In response to the query recently: "How Tom Collins, the drink, was christened?" there have come numerous replies—chiefly from press agents. . . . Who tag the submitted legends onto their clients. . . . The exploiters, I thought, found out long ago, that the column cannot be used in that manner. . . . A New York attorney relates this unusual story. . . . A young boy and girl were married two years ago. . . . They kept it a secret, not even telling their folks. . . . A few weeks ago they decided to announce the wedding, so the lad went to his wife's father and confessed. . . . The old gent replied: "That's fine! Then he added: 'So you've been married two years—that makes you owe me two years' board for my daughter. You must pay me the money I paid out for her during the time you were married to her.'"

The boy didn't have it, he said, and anyway he wouldn't do it. . . . The father went to the courts about it—and won!"

This is also a true story. . . . Last week there was a fire in the same building that tenants one of the more famous dance-halls on Broadway in the 50s. . . . The firemen arrived—there was much noise and smoke, etc. . . . All of which didn't disturb the dancers, at all. . . . However, the firemen discovered that smoke was seeping up through the dance hall, and the chief assigned a pair of men with axes to investigate. . . . The firemen broke into the room, and one of the women patrons, dancing with a gigolo, screamed: "My Gawd! My husband!" and ran. . . . Talk about coincidences!

Sunshine Mold Four egg yolks. Three-fourths cup sugar. Three-fourths cup pastry flour. One-half teaspoon cream of tartar. One-eighth teaspoon salt. One teaspoon vanilla. One-half teaspoon lemon extract. Four egg whites, beaten. Beat yolks one minute. Add sugar slowly and beat two minutes. Fold in remaining ingredients, mixing lightly. Pour into floured ring or shallow pan. Bake 30 minutes in moderately slow oven. Cool and unmold. Fill center or cover top with peach mixture of:

Two cups sliced peaches. One-third cup sugar. One cup whipped cream. One-fourth teaspoon almond extract. One-half teaspoon vanilla. Mix sugar, cream and extracts. Chill. Add peaches and serve on cake.

Smoked Tongue With Sauce Prepare a sauce from two cups canned tomatoes, one cup stock, two whole cloves, one bay leaf, one chopped onion, one-teaspoon salt, one teaspoon paprika. Simmer for a half hour, then strain and thicken with a little cornstarch blended with cold water. Add to the sauce sliced cooked tongue and let simmer until the tongue is heated through. A delightful dish for luncheon and, if necessary, the tongue may be bought already cooked at the delicatessen store, thus making the preparation a great deal simpler.

A Terrifying Object Proves To Be Harmless

By Mary Graham Bonner

IT SEEMED as though little Yellow Beak had lost his voice, his power to move—everything. He had cried out to the huge object he saw in the dark that he didn't want to be hurt. But now another word could be quick now. The huge and terrible object just stood there, saying not a single word.

"He just wants to torment me," little Yellow Beak thought, but he could not speak.

At last he managed to give a faint cry and in a weak little voice said: "Please, please don't do anything to me. I never did anyone any harm. I've only been naughty once in a great while. I am not a bad duckling."

But the huge and terrible object still would not say a word. "Won't you promise not to hurt me?" little Yellow Beak begged. "I'll give you grain and seeds and everything if you'll only promise."

"Please, please promise."

But the huge and terrible object just stood there, not speaking, and he wondered how he could stand it much longer.

The thing—he couldn't tell what it was—stood out against the dark sky, and its bony arms seemed ready to clutch him. But it didn't move, and Yellow Beak was afraid he couldn't think of running away.

He knew it was useless for him to try to get away from anyone as strong and powerful as this terrible looking creature. And so the long hours of the night dragged on. But at last a little more light appeared. And then Yellow Beak recognized the terrible object.

School Is Out

By ARTHUR "BUGGS" BAER

WE HAVE pleaded for years with college professors not to make too many successful experiments. Sooner or later, one was sure to fly back and bend their whiskers.

Well, they wouldn't listen to Papa Bugs and it happened. The Profs collected two twin baby boys. One they took to college. The other stayed home with its mother. Where it belonged.

The Profs raised their twin along scientific lines, curves and academic tangents. The mother brought her twin up as mothers have done since the world tried its first spin on its axis.

The period of training was for two years. The time elapsed last month. They got the babies together for the first time since they were born and compared notes.

Anyway, the collegian was a mental flop, a thumb sucker and 26 letters short of knowing anything at all. The home guard can kick him all over the lot in live languages, personality and leadership. For he was raised by his mother.

They tried to discover a chemical formula for a mother's love and wound up with a handful of fractions in red ink.
